Mungo Martin Tribute

Native Spirit Lives On

By IAN ARBOL

The greatest memorial to Mungo Martin is seen by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes to be an inspiration for the revival of native carving and painting by the young Indians of today.

This declaration was made by Mr. Pearkes at the official opening yesterday of the graphic art of Chief Mungo Martin at Thunderbird House, third floor, Hudson's Bay Company.

BROUGHT BACK

"After the native arts had almost dropped out of existence, Mungo Martin brought back the natives' historic heritage," he said.

The lieutenant-governor spoke of a recent visit to the Indian Residential School at Alberni where he was pleased to see native paintings and carvings, the work of the teen-agers there, adorning the school.

Mr. Pearkes sees an awakening interest in the province among the white people and the Indians.

PANEL SHOWN

On exhibit with Mungo Martin's work is a panel, a preliminary study in bronze plaster, depicting Chief Mungo Martin in his two principal attributes, that of the totem carver and that of Kwakiutl chief.

The design is by Bill Reid of Vancouver, a friend and co-worker with Chief Martin for years.

11 ACCEPTED

On behalf of a committee of Victoria citizens who commissioned the work, Colin Graham, director of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, has announced "preliminary acceptance" of Reid's submission.

In its final stage the Martin memorial will be approximately seven feet high and of copper. It will be an outdoor exhibit, probably in Thunderbird Park.

Funds for the panel are being raised by public subscription as a tribute to the chief from the people of British Columbia. The aim of the drive is for $5,500.

VANCOUVER SHOWING

The exhibit of Mungo Martin's work will remain in Victoria at the Bay until July 11, after which it will be shown in the Vancouver store from July 17 to July 25.

The permanent display will be in the provincial museum. "It will be a memorial type of exhibit," announced director Dr. G. C. Carl.

Also at the ceremonies yesterday afternoon, Stuart Keate, Vancouver Sun publisher, presented Chief Martin's adopted daughter, Mrs. Helen Hunt, with the Canada Council Medal.

Flag Debate to End

OTTAWA (UPI)—The federal government and opposition parties appear to have broken an angry impasse that had threatened to block crucial legislation and prevent any summer recess.

Informed sources said the government House leader, Guy Favreau, proposed a compromise that would have the national flag debate resumed only until the end of this week.

The House yesterday passed an interim money supply bill that had been debated for more than five days, and wanted to consider legislation to unify the three commands in the national defence department.

Favreau was to announce later whether the flag debate is to resume or be postponed until an agenda is agreed upon later today.

In either event, the flag resolution was expected to be debated only until the end of this week.

Flees to Mexico

CASTRO'S SISTER CUTS FAMILY TIES

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Juana Castro Ruz, sister of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, said Monday she has broken with him and is seeking political asylum in Mexico. Miss Castro, who arrived here five days ago from Havana, called her brother "a Communist dictator."

"I have broken all bonds with Fidel and Raul," Miss Castro told a news conference here. Raul Castro is Castro's brother and Cuban minister of armed forces.

"I can no longer remain indifferent to what is happening in my country since the middle part of 1960 when my brothers began to deliver it to Russian imperialism," she added.

Miss Castro said she has been able to verify personally that there are "at least 70,000 political prisoners in Cuban jails who are victims of cruel treatment."

ROME PERSECUTION

"The practice of Roman Catholicism has not been banned, but those who go to church risk being persecuted," she said.

"On one occasion I saw a young fellow shot to death in a church. It was never determined who killed him."

Miss Castro charged that "Cuba was now entirely under Communist control," and added:

"Communists train the guerrillas that are sent to Latin America to spread subversion."

"Fidel promised to hold free elections within 18 months after he assumed power, but in no time he convinced the people that they should do without elections and he became a dictator."

Jet Crashes Children Die

HAVERHILL, Mass. (UPI)—A jet fighter plane crashed early today on a heavily populated street and apparently killed at least two children as they slept in their homes.

There were no immediate signs of survivors among the crew.

Successor? Khrushchev Doesn't Care

OSLO (CP) — A jovial, gesticulating Nikita Khrushchev told his Norwegian hosts Monday night he did not care who would succeed him as premier of the Soviet Union. (See below).

According to a Norwegian spokesman who was present during a meeting between the Russian leader, Norwegian parliamentary leaders and Premier Einar Gerhardsen, Khrushchev was quoted as saying:

"We have now established the necessary apparatus of party leadership to take care of the question of succession."

Khrushchev made the statement during a government banquet.

Gordon on Separation:

'Study Couldn't Prove Favorable'

LONDON (CP) — Finance Minister Walter Gordon said Monday night that no study of the Canadian situation could prove favorable to Quebec separation.

"It couldn't prove favorable," he replied, adding the government would favor anything that would improve Canada's federal system.

Many things are happening in Quebec, resulting in some extreme statements by radicals, but separation "is not one of the things that will happen or even, except in theory, could happen."

The question on separation came at the end of the press conference in which Gordon also said a Canadian government investigation has shown there is some basis for British complaints about Canadian import regulations.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson Monday promised to make a new statement in the Commons today on a federal "economic investigation of the inter-relationship between Quebec and the rest of the country."

UN Troops Leave Today Chaos Feared in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Western diplomats expressed fear the Congo would be plunged into chaos after United Nations peacekeeping forces withdrew today. Already the nation was torn by Communist-backed revolt and tribal rivalries.

Ironically, the man of the hour appeared to be Moise Tshombe, whose Katanga secessionist regime was crushed by UN military force 18 months ago. Observers agreed Tshombe had emerged as the main hope for reconciliation of the feuding factions in the blood-soaked Congo.

The Congo has been torn by strife almost since the moment it was granted independence on June 30, 1961, by Belgium.

Tshombe, who returned in triumph Friday from 18 months of self-imposed exile, was considered likely to be the Congo's next premier.

Sharks?

Atlantic Swimmer Vanishes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Long distance swimmer Britt Sullivan, bothered by a school of sharks on the first leg of an attempted trans-Atlantic swim, vanished Sunday night and a day-long search Monday by the Coast Guard failed to turn up any trace of her.

Two helicopters and an 82-foot cutter criss-crossed the waters off Fire Island, a popular summer resort strip off the coast of Long Island where the 23-year-old former navy WAVE was last seen.

ONE MORE TRY

They were recalled as night fell and a coast guard spokesman said "one more try" at finding the woman would be made today.

Captain Laurence Griffith, in command of a 35-foot boat escorting the swimmer, notified the Coast Guard that Miss Sullivan had to be pulled from the water Sunday night when a large school of sharks came within 30 yards of her. Later, she continued the swim.

RE-ENTERED WATER

Griffith said Miss Sullivan re-entered the water on a swim toward Montauk Point on the eastern tip of Long Island. There, she was to have turned and headed out across the Atlantic toward Europe.

Greetings in Norway:

Go Home, You Fat

By EDWIN BOTH
from Oslo

"Go home, you fat..."

With this abusive scream, cut off by a policeman's gloved hand, a Norwegian woman greeted Soviet Premier Khrushchev on his first day of a five-day state visit to her country.

There were some cheers, too, but a definite undercurrent of hostility as the Red leader arrived from Sweden to continue trade talks with Scandinavian officials.

Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen, speaking at a state banquet, bluntly challenged Khrushchev to increase free cultural and economic exchanges across borders and ideological divisions.

His reception has been less than enthusiastic throughout his 15-day tour. The grimmest part has been Sweden.

In shiny white steel helmets and grey uniforms, many tough military policemen stood with their black army boots on the carpets inside Stockholm's royal palace—turning their backs on King Gustaf Adolf and his guest.

Never before had Swedish soldiers stood with their backs to their king, and they did so only because his guest was Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev.

They had to stand with their faces towards us newsmen to ensure (although our special police card with photograph, and our green "Supplementary Accreditation Card Number 3" giving admission to the palace had been checked five times before we got there) that none of us would attempt to kill Khrushchev or to kidnap him from the palace.

Stories of a highly melodramatic kidnapping plot by fanatical Hungarians and/or Ukrainians and/or Baltic refugees filled the Swedish press, so that even five-times

Troopers Charge Racists

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Florida authorities cracked down on white segregationists Monday night and Negroes staged a quiet, heavily-guarded parade in this racially-troubled city.

A criminal charge was filed against William Thompson, 27, of St. Augustine, accusing him of a violent assault on a state trooper. State Attorney Dan Warren said 10 or 15 others probably would be charged in connection with his investigation of a conspiracy by whites to gain revenge for arrests by state officers.

POLICE BUSY
A band of 118 integrationists, conveyed by about twice as many state and local law enforcement officers, marched from a church into the heart of the downtown area for the first time since last Thursday night when segregationists broke up a parade.

Double and triple lines of police stood or walked along between the paraders and heckling whites, who made no efforts to break through the bristling police guard.

THREATEN OFFICERS
The marchers moved back toward the Negro section and white segregationists, most of them young men, followed on the sidewalk, threatening officers and calling them "nigger lovers."

To Build, Teach

Canadian Students To Work in Cuba

TORONTO (CP) — The vanguard of 45 students from 15 Canadian universities, who will spend the summer working in Cuba, leave Toronto and Montreal today.

Twenty-two students from the Toronto, Winnipeg and Ottawa areas will leave with the Toronto group on the trip sponsored by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. Those leaving from Montreal will include a number from the Maritimes.

A group from the Prairies and British Columbia will leave from Vancouver Friday.

The type of work they will do was not known but a spokesman for the committee said they may help in construction of a school being built in the Sierra Maestra mountains and do some teaching as well. They will be there six to eight weeks.

There are 15 girls in the group and 30 boys.

Students were recruited by advertisements inserted in campus newspapers across the country.

Shastri Better Still in Bed

NEW DELHI (AP) — A few affairs of state were conducted at the bedside of ailing Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri Monday and a spokesman said there was a progressive improvement in his "general condition."

Despite official optimism, there were public suggestions that Shastri relinquish some of his duties.

B.C. Centre Losing Millions?

DAWSON CREEK (CP) — Chamber of Commerce spokesmen for this northern area said Monday millions of dollars of business could be lost annually through the action of the B.C. government in abolishing sales tax exemptions for Alberta residents shopping in northern B.C. communities close to the border between the two provinces.

The provincial finance department said the exemptions will be abolished July 1.

The chamber spokesmen said some 21,000 Alberta residents who shop in this area will be affected.

10 Men Missing In Ocean

HAMILTON, Bermuda (UPI) — Two big U.S. Air Force planes with 24 men aboard collided in the air Monday and plunged in flames into the shark-infested Atlantic two miles offshore.

The bodies of seven men were recovered. Seven others were missing. Hours after the crash, 10 men were still reported missing.

There were 12 men each on the planes, an HC4 from the Lajes base, in the Azores and an HC97 from Kindley, Bermuda. The planes were engaged in a promotional film project in the Gemini space program.

LONDON (AP) — Turkey raised the threat once again Monday that it might seek a Cyprus settlement by force of arms.

"We have prepared to send our troops into Cyprus on four different occasions up to now and the latest occasion was on June 5," a high Turkish source said.

CAN'T GO ON

"Only the intervention of the United States stopped us from going, but the Americans now realize, and we understand they have told the Greek government so, they will not be able to restrain us indefinitely," he added.

The warning was coupled with a statement by Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu to a press conference here that Turkey still considers it has the right to intervene militarily in Cyprus despite the presence of the United Nations peace-keeping force on the troubled Mediterranean island.

NEXT LAST
And Inonu warned the British government that the next attempt by UN mediator Sakari Tuomioja to settle the island's ethnic strife may be the last for the achievement of a solution by peaceful means.

Greek Premier George Papandreu warned that "a Turkish landing would mean war."

TELEGRAM
He issued the warning in a telegram to President Archbishop Makarios, Greek-Cypriot leader, from New York following his talks with President Johnson. He has since gone to Paris.

Family Gets Nothing

Author's Will Upheld, Estate Goes to Friend

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — The deathbed will of author Grace Metalious in which she cut off her family was approved Monday.

Counsel for the woman's three children announced he would appeal probate court Judge Carroll W. Stafford's ruling.

The estate, valued at $127,372, was left to John Rees, 37, a free-lance British writer. He and Mrs. Metalious knew each other six months.

Dr. Herbert S. Saver, who attended the novelist in her final illness, said she was "clear, coherent, rational and oriented (and) was not under sedation" when she signed the will.

Dr. Saver, Herman M. Krupp and John F. Cremmens, Boston lawyer who drew the will at the woman's request, witnessed the document.

Dr. Saver and Krupp both testified Cremmens told Mrs. Metalious that if she signed the will her children would receive nothing unless Rees so chose.

She replied, they said, she had fullest confidence in Rees.

The will was signed Feb. 24, 1964, the day after Mrs. Metalious entered hospital in Boston, and the day before she died.

Dr. Saver told the court Mrs. Metalious died of sclerosis of the liver, presumably caused by excessive drinking.

30-Day Sentence

Banks' Term Upheld By Supreme Court

MONTREAL (CP) — The highest court in the country Monday ordered Hal Banks, deposed head of the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.), to serve a 30-day jail sentence.

In Montreal, lawyers for Upper Lakes Shipping Company said they are going to make sure he does.

But, they indicated, it could be several weeks before Banks, convicted on a contempt of court charge, actually begins his sentence.

LOST APPEAL

Banks lost a bid Monday to appeal the conviction before the Supreme Court of Canada. The court refused Banks' application, but gave no reasons.

Lawyers for the company said they would begin immediately to take the legal steps necessary to put Banks into jail. This included issuing a writ of imprisonment which would be sent to the courts, asking that Banks be taken into custody to start his sentence.

Publication Of Diary Questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Warren commission asked the FBI Monday to "fully investigate the publication of the Lee Harvey Oswald diary."

The commission met for about four hours to discuss the publication by a Dallas newspaper of the diary. It also discussed the timing of the commission's final report and the wording of the report on the assassination of President John Kennedy.

A commission spokesman said the FBI has been asked to determine how the information from Oswald's diary was obtained and from whom.

The spokesman said the diary was part of the commission's evidence, but the publication of the excerpts did not materially damage the investigation.

The spokesman left a clear implication that he believed the Oswald diary had been leaked by the Dallas police.

Oyster Growing Faces Ban In Esquimalt

By BRUCE LOWTHER

Growing of oysters and other shellfish in Esquimalt harbor will be banned effective July 22, the provincial health department announced yesterday.

The closure, made public by Esquimalt harbor grower David McMillan, 3841 Holland, confirms speculation that a recent ban in the Ladysmith area might be extended to other areas because of pollution from raw sewage.

The ban in Ladysmith has restricted sales from five beds covering 40 to 50 acres near a sewer outfall in the harbor.

A report yesterday said Island oyster shipments are continuing despite the Ladysmith trouble, but B.C. production in May fell 40 per cent, to 12,385 gallons, from the previous month.

To save the Island industry, Mr. McMillan said, there should be strict municipal enforcement of sewage disposal regulations.

Failing this, he said, the provincial government should encourage, through finance and research, discovery of methods to decontaminate oysters.

Mr. McMillan said most European countries employ a treatment using a chlorine solution which makes the oysters fit for human consumption.

Island Centres

Whoop-De-Do On Holiday

Loggers, children, homes and cars will compete and several parades will be held as various Island centres celebrate Canada's 97th birthday with Dominion Day programs Wednesday.

In the Alberni area, mall sports have been added to the loggers' events during the second annual Elks celebrations in Sproat Lake Park starting at 20 a.m.

The program includes log burling, chopping, sawing, jousting, axe-throwing, shingle-packing, lumber-grading, eye-splicing, women's nail-driving and log jousting, and a display

Big Chemainus Parade

Chemainus will have one of the biggest holiday parades, with 11 bands among the 60 entries which are to begin leaving the Hornsby Bay Inn at 12:30 noon.

Children's sports at the Chemainus ball park run from 9 to 11 a.m., while the new queen will be chosen at 2:15 p.m. after the princesses, judges and others gather in the ball park at 1:30.

Courtenay Program

It's a three-part program in Courtenay, starting with a home show in Centennial Park at 10 a.m. and continuing with a car gymnastics in Courtenay Square at noon.

The last item isn't a competition but may attract the largest crowd. B.C. Lions are due in Lewis Park at 5 p.m.

Council Examines Joint Service Plan

In an effort to assess just what the joint services plan, proposed by Provincial Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, would mean to Victoria, council will seek information from every possible source.

The first report will be from city manager Dennis Young who, without attempting to make any forecasts, will report on proposals as outlined by the minister, and their possible effects.

Death Severs Link With Early History

A link with Victoria's early history was broken at the weekend with the death of the last surviving child of the first white child born in Fort Victoria.

Constance Mary Babington, 710 Fort, was the last surviving child of A. E. B. Davis, QC, and his wife, the former Constance Langford Skinner, who was the first white child born here. She leaves six nephews, including provincial Conservative leader Davie Fulton. Prayers will take place in Hayward's at 7 p.m. Wednesday and requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Andrew's Cathedral at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Central Saanich Hall

Auspicious Beginning

By IAN ARROL

A swarm of bees was the only cloud on the horizon at the official opening yesterday of the new Central Saanich-Municipal Hall.

Out of the blue of one of the finest days this year, the bees moved over the heads of 20 or 30 of the 100 ratepayers and visitors seated on chairs in front of the hall.

GOOD OMEN

The immediate departure of the bees, that is—prompted one member of the gathering to comment: "A swarm of bees in June is a good omen."

Certainly relations between the municipality and the provincial government appear auspiciously started.

Reeve R. Gordon Lee said: "Municipal boundaries should not be the limit of our thinking and endeavors."

STRATEGIC

"We are in a central and strategic location. We anticipate an ever-increasing population and, hence, ever-increasing responsibilities, not only within the municipality but among the municipalities of the greater metropolitan Victoria area."

"If necessary we must be prepared to make sacrifices," he added.

Tenders in Fall

Police Station Plans Passed

Plans for Victoria's partly new, partly renovated police station and court were approved yesterday by members of the police commission meeting in committee.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said that it was likely tenders would be called in early autumn. The work of building and renovation will get started possibly by October, and the work will take nine or 10 months.

COST COULD RISE

Discussions with architect Donald A. Wagg, who submitted the plans, indicated there is a possibility the total estimated cost of the work, $350,000, might be exceeded.

Mayor Wilson said he hoped such would not be the case. The city had only so much money and it would be unfortunate if it was not enough.

WINTER PROJECT?

It was hoped, however, that if the job was done under a winter works program this would keep costs in line.

The intercommunication system in the building came under discussion. Chief of Police Gregory said there were four companies which installed such equipment and he could not get them to agree on the installation and maintenance. Further study will be done on the subject.

Chalet Units Sought For Reserve

A 35-dwelling Swiss chalet type apartment development is planned for an area of an acre-and-a-third in the Songhees Indian Reserve.

Moving spirit in the venture Ald. Millard Mooney, who yesterday asked city council to ask the provincial government for a change of land-use on the leased area so the two-storey building might be erected.

Ald. Mooney stepped out of the chamber during council discussion of the request.

After considering the request, the advisory planning commission suggested that city council recommend reclassification by the provincial government. This council did.

High-Rise Approval Withheld

Esquimalt council last night turned thumbs down on a proposal for a high-rise apartment building at Esquimalt Road and Woolaston, but agreed to consider it if changes in the existing plans were made.

Existing plans call for construction of a six storey apartment building with a rooftop restaurant above that.

It would provide underground parking for 90 cars on two levels, plus some outside parking.

Council agreed to consider the plan if the building was given more side clearance—plans call for 10 feet on one side and 12 on the other, considerably less than called for under a municipal by-law.

Another stipulation was that the restaurant should be moved to the ground floor so that occupants of the building would not be bothered by late-night noise caused by restaurant patrons entering and leaving the building.

Robert Kennedy Says Oswald Lone Assassin

KRAKOW — U.S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy said Monday the assassination of President John Kennedy was carried out by Lee Harvey Oswald as "a single act of one person protesting against society."

It was the first time such a high U.S. government authority had made a flat statement that the assassination was the work of Oswald alone.

Findings of the Warren Commission, making a detailed investigation of the assassination, are expected next month.

Earlier Mr. Kennedy and his touring party serenaded cheering Poles in this old university city by singing When Polish Eyes are Smiling.

HONG KONG — Actor Danny Kays arrived from Tokyo to shoot a documentary film on welfare work here for children. He is a special representative of the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund.

BOSTON — A Boston psychiatrist, Dr. Philip Solomon, has denied a published report that he plans to marry U.S. Senator James Brooke Neuberger, Oregon Democrat.

PORTSMOUTH, England — James Warner, who says his wife Mary disappeared last

Kaye

April, has offered to give away for adoption nine of his 13 children. "It breaks my heart," he said, but added he and Christine, 17, his oldest daughter, were desperate and could not carry on.

CHELMSFORD, England — Detective Richard Ross, 33, says he quit the police force because his chief kept telling him he ought to have a child and even offered to talk to his wife about it in case she was "awkward."

FENNY DRAYTON, England — The Rev. Henry Baylis, 51, Anglican rector of this village, said he has been banned from the village pub because he called the pubkeeper's wife a "bore."

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Seven-year-old Mary Dean of nearby Onondaga tried to stop a fight between a mouse and her cat. She got bitten for her effort by the mouse.

GLOBE, Ariz. — All his 22 years, the main ambition of Jack Knight was to dive off nearby Coolidge Dam into San Carlos Lake. Sunday, over protests, he succeeded. He dived 150 feet into the 25-foot deep lake, and was killed.

ITHACA, N.Y. — Harold Hubbs, 74, retired engineer from Alaska, said he was "going crazy waiting for the 5:15 bus" — and offered to paint the interior of the bus depot. Terminal manager Robert Hillek provided the paint. Mr. Hubbs took a brush from his luggage — and the job was done in two hours.

VANCOUVER — Last Christmas David Walker, 34, was in hospital and missed the festivities which had become a 17-year tradition with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brown. The Browns promised to wait — so Sunday neighbors were surprised by a gaily-lit tree in the Browns' window as the friends sat down to turkey and the trimmings.

OTTAWA — External affairs minister Martin has announced five new appointments: H. Basil Babbington as assistant under-secretary here; J. G. L. Evans-Bennett as minister in Washington; Malcolm Norman Bow as ambassador to Czechoslovakia; Harry Haviland Carter as ambassador to Finland and Ormond W. Dier as ambassador to Colombia with accreditation to Ecuador.

BONN — Dr. Linus Pauling, American scientist who has won the Nobel chemistry and peace prizes, says a third world war would kill all the inhabitants of the United States, the Soviet Union and Europe.

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI marked the feast day of St. Peter Monday by celebrating mass in St. Peter's Basilica. Aides meanwhile were expressing concern at the Pope's work pace, and Vatican sources said the Pontiff probably would begin his summer vacation at Castel Gandolfo within a week.

ROSTEDUK, The Netherlands — The Dutch royal family, including "exiled" Princess Irene, was reunited temporarily Monday on the occasion of Prince Bernhard's 53rd birthday.

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Visiting Soviet first deputy premier Alexei Mikoyan told a mass rally at Surabaya that American Sen. Barry Goldwater would be dangerous if elected U.S. president because "he wants another nuclear war."

TRAGUE, Colombia — A Colombian airliner carrying Miss Universe, Brazil's Ieda Maria Vargas, was heavily damaged in a landing Sunday. Miss Vargas fainted but was not injured.

WESTPORT, Conn. — Mrs. Gary Cooper, widow of the film star, was married here to Dr. John Converse, New York plastic surgeon.

NEW ORLEANS — Earl Skelton, 32, was booked with drunken driving. He was "driving" a tug — in the Mississippi River.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG (CP) - Most prices advanced moderately active trade. Liberal selling in all commodities was brought out in early trade by reports of heavy rain showers in some of the dry areas of northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Stocks Edge Ahead

MONTEAL (CP) - Prices moved fractionally higher in light activity. Trans-Canada Pipe Line added 1/4 to 40¢ and CPR 1/4 to 5¢. CIL gained 1/4 to 20¢. Canadian Cement and Moore Corp. each to 4¢ and 5¢.

TORONTO OILS

CHICAGO (AP) - All commodities in the grain futures market sold steady to firm. Wheat started off under light pressure of hedge selling and prices slipped again to low levels for the season but later the market rallied.

London Stock Prices

Several members of the Toronto Stock Exchange reported they had received fictitious orders to buy shares in Genex Mines Ltd. All were from new customers.

Pipe Line Tops $40

TORONTO (CP) - Stocks, averages, inched up Monday to carved out a fractional advance. A total of 3,600,000 shares changed hands. This was the lowest total since 3,174,000 shares changed hands March 10.

Of the volume, more than one quarter was accounted for by five speculative mining issues. Genex traded 464,857 shares and dropped 5 1/2 cents to 42. Consolidated Negus turned over 223,853 shares in dipping 1/2 cent to 25 1/2 cents.

Trans-Canada Pipe Line added 1/4 to 40¢ in the main list. CPR was ahead 1/4 to 45¢ with Da Pont and Imperial Oil up 1/4 each to 54¢ and 51¢ respectively.

There were a number of key losers in the list, including Massey-Ferguson, which dipped 1/4 to 29¢. Bank of Montreal eased 1/4 to 64¢.

Western oils were stronger. Home B tacked on 1/4 to 15¢ while Hudson's Bay was up 1/4 to 17¢.

Senior base metals were paced higher by 1/4 gains in the afternoon session rising to a new high of 1.13 before closing at 1.10.

Pipelines were a little stronger. Fort St. John was the feature in oil rising 30 cents to 1.50. Pipelines were a little stronger with Westcoast at 17 1/2¢ and Western Pacific at 18 1/2¢.

Steel led the early advance but ended with losses all through the group. Most airlines and oil posted gains.

Trading in Celotex and Jim Walter Corp. was halted on the New York Stock Exchange until they announced plans for a merger. When trading was resumed, Celotex advanced 2 1/2¢ and Jim Walter lost about a point.

Westcoast Profit Up

By HARRY YOUNG
Columnist Business Editor

Westcoast Transmission Company increased its net profit in the year ended March 31, to $3,205,000 (50 cents a share), an increase of 27 per cent from a year ago when the net profit of $2,523,000 equalled 42 cents a share.

Revenue rose by $1,200,000 but this was more than offset by increased operating expenses, of $1,950,000, leaving a reduced cash flow of $15,855,000 compared with $16,598,500 a year ago.

SALES UP
R. B. Stewart, president, said despite a mild winter, natural gas sales had increased 3.22 per cent to 136,000,000 cubic feet from the previous year.

The company is planning to increase its capacity from 500,000,000 cubic feet a day to 700,000,000 cubic feet, and the main portion of the expansion program was the construction of the 230 miles line into the B.C. northeast, for which National Energy Board approval was being waited.

The addition would put Westcoast in a strong position to develop and supply additional markets in the U.S.
Mr. Stewart added that Westcoast was currently negotiating with Japanese interests for the export of liquefied methane from a plant that would be situated at tidewater near Vancouver.

WELL LIST SHARES
Shareholders were also informed that Westcoast is planning to have its shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and that negotiations with bondholders to modify certain restrictions so that dividends can be paid when the company's cash position prudently permits.

Westcoast now owns 52½ per cent of the shares of Gas Trunk of B.C., and it is stated in the report that a formal offer will be made to the remaining shareholders to exchange their shares into those of Westcoast on a share-for-share basis.

WINE FIRM EXTENDS
Part of Growers' Wine's program to expand sales from one end of the country to another, was announced in Edmonton by Mayor William Hawreluk who said a subsidiary of the Victoria wine-making firm would open a $500,000 plant in Edmonton and start production late this year.

The grapes will come from the Okanagan area.

TOP MAN CHOSEN
The Mead Corporation of Dayton, Ohio, has appointed Henry G. Caldwell to be the chief engineering and planning officer for the company's new pulp mill in the Prince George area.

The mill is being built by Northwood Mills Ltd., a wholly owned subsidiary of Noranda Mines Ltd., and it will be jointly owned by them and Mead. Mr. Caldwell will make his headquarters in Vancouver. He was formerly Mead assistant director-research, and is a native of Chilliwack.

CAN IT BE?

What's new in home planning? The Summer Home Furnishings Market now being staged in San Francisco says this year is dedicated to hot colors, oriental and south-of-the-border themes and to bigger and better mattresses. Dealers and models attending the mart are being invited to jounce and bounce on the king-size mattresses—whatever that may mean.

TRUST RAISES SIGHTS

Canada Trust has raised its sights on its new Toronto office. J. Allyn Taylor, president, announced this week the directors had scrapped last year's plans for a $2,000,000 building and had substituted it with one to cost over $5,000,000.

It will have 18 storeys, and Canada Trust will occupy three floors with the rest leased as prestige office space. The site is Yonge-Adelaide Street corner.

The new issue of Cygnus convertible preferred shares of $20 par is expected to be offered this week. The dividend rate is 5½ per cent and each share will be convertible until the end of 1972 into four Cygnus "A" shares.

CONTRACT AWARDED

Canadian Allis-Chalmers has been awarded a contract for $850,000 to supply the fourth generating unit at the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Wemeta hydro plant at Pemd d'Oreille.

Executive Dies
$1,000,000 Insurance Claim Paid

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Life Insurance Co., says it has made a payment of $1,023,912 toward a $1,293,800 death claim which it called the largest death claim it has ever paid on a single life. The remainder will be paid under a number of other company policies.

'KEY MAN' POLICY

The insurance company said recently the beneficiary was a large eastern manufacturing corporation which held a "million dollar key man" policy on a top executive who died of a heart attack less than four months after the policy was issued. The man and company were not further identified. The total payments include premium refund and interest.

Skeena Due In East Today

HALIFAX (CP)—HMCS Skeena, a former unit of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron based at Esquimalt, B.C., is to arrive here today.

The ship will undergo a major conversion in an Eastern Canadian shipyard for service in the navy's Atlantic Command. The Skeena, commanded by Cmdr. M. A. Martin of Victoria, B.C., and Kingston, Ont., left Esquimalt May 25.

Copper Found By Atlantic

OTTAWA (CP)—J. Barry O'Brien, president of Atlantic Coast Copper Corporation Limited, has informed shareholders that diamond drilling at the company's property in Newfoundland's Notre Dame Bay area has revealed two new ore zones with good copper values over lengths of about 500 feet. The drilling is about 1,000 feet north of the main workings.

A corporation spokesman said Monday this would enable mining of the new areas from the present working without the need for sinking new shafts. Further drilling is under way.

UPHOLDS CLAIM

The U.S. Indian Claims Commission has upheld the Seminole Indians' long-standing claim to ownership of nearly 90 per cent of Florida.

'Foolish Enough'—Magistrate

COURTENAY—“The older a person gets, the more foolish he gets,” Magistrate T. G. Ryan said in magistrate's court yesterday. “I hope this is as foolish as you will get.”

He was speaking to Joseph Widen, 51, of Mud Bay, who was found by police lying in the mud and later caused some disturbance and damage in the police cells.

Widen, charged with intoxication, was fined $15.

Two Horse Shows Coming Up

City horsemen will have a good chance to show their skill at two horse shows this weekend.

Squamish Man Killed in Crash

HOPE (CP)—Alvin Werger, 35, of Squamish, was killed instantly during the weekend when his car sideswiped a tractor-trailer truck on the Trans-Canada Highway near Hope. His sisters-in-law Mrs. Lorraine Goodrich, 26, and Patricia Hartwig, 17, were seriously injured.

The Victoria Western Horsemen's Club will hold their big annual horse show in the Saanichton Fair Grounds, Saturday. Entry forms are now out and the deadline is midnight tonight, but posted entries will be accepted until 9 a.m. Saturday.

Thirteen events are on the agenda, beginning at 9 a.m.

On Sunday, the Colwood Trail Riders will hold their annual charity show at the Luxton Fair Grounds. Large crowds are expected to attend.

Fred Magee New United Manager

Fred "Scotty" Magee takes over as manager of Victoria United next season, faced with a major rebuilding job as he prepares the club for another shot at the Pacific Coast Soccer League championship.

Magee has been named to succeed Wally Milligan as United manager after an intensive search through local soccer ranks. His first job will be to find replacements for goalie Barry Sadler, who is moving to Vancouver and will play for New Westminster Royals; halfback Ollie Owens, who is leaving the area, and halfback George Wright, who will not be commuting from Vancouver as he has done for the past two seasons.

It's prospect that would make the average manager shudder, but Magee seems unperturbed.

Vice-president of United last year, Magee has been in soccer most of his life, and he has definite ideas on how a club should be run—ideas developed and sharpened through five years as manager-coach of the old Eagles first division team.

"It's too bad to lose players who have been as good as Sadler and Wright," he said last night. "But Sadler is moving to the mainland and Wright is living there now, and I don't go for this idea of commuters on a club. They can't practice with the team, and I don't think it works out."

Sadler's replacement will probably be Larry DeCosta of Gorge Hotel, who tried out briefly with Columbus last season. Loss of Owens and Wright isn't as much of a problem, since Dave Stothard is back in town and, no matter what they think in Vancouver, will play for United again this year.

"Stothard is the best player in the Pacific Coast League," Magee enthused. "He can play every position but goal, and he was the club's top scorer two seasons ago. He has assured me he has no intention of playing with anyone but United."

Rumor and a story in a Vancouver newspaper had Stothard lining up with a mainland club.

In his search for player talent, Magee may come up with former Victoria player Volker Stoldt, who has moved back to the city. He also wants to take a good look at some players up from juvenile ranks, particularly Tony Quinn and Marty Taylor of Canadian Scottish.

"The thing I want to do is to be in touch with all the district league teams, perhaps practicing with a different team each week, so we keep a line on who is playing and who can help us," Magee explained. "We've got a lot of building to do."

AT THE 19th With Harry Young

The main surprise of the Willingdon Cup selection has, of course, been the omission of Bill Wakeham. The Gorge Vale golfer, who held the provincial crown in 1962 and 1963 was left out because there were other golfers who this season, and principally in the four qualifying rounds, had done better than he.

There is little doubt that Wakeham in his 1963-64 form would have left nothing to chance. The Kelowna course is full of "birdie" holes and should have been easy picking for the former champion.

However, Wakeham failed to qualify by only one stroke it is true—but in the process indicated that at the moment he is not in top form. His scores indeed at this stage are about two strokes higher than they were a year ago.

As a result the B.C. Golf Association directors gave a late chance to Vancouver's John Russell, who had finished four strokes ahead of Wakeham, and who had shown his consistency by being placed first alternate in the B.C. team for the past two years.

Past performance could perhaps have tipped the scale in favor of Wakeham, but the modern method of team selection is to take present form and current figures as the primary guide, and it is certainly one way in which favoritism can be averted.

At the same time, it is perhaps not taking B.C. very much further along the line towards the restoration of a Willingdon Cup dominance, because the four players selected—Bob Kidd, John Johnston, Bert Ticehurst and John Russell—are not youngsters. Ticehurst at 34 is probably the youngest of the quartet, and dependence completely upon the "old masters" is not perhaps the ideal way of encouraging youth.

Two years ago Kidd, Johnston and Ticehurst were in the team that finished fourth in the Willingdon at London, Ont. The fourth member, Bill Wakeham, had the lowest score of the four, and on those grounds it might be wondered if the present team with Russell substituted for Wakeham will be good enough at Riverside, Saskatoon in August.

A number of youngsters, such as Wayne Vollmer, Gary Smith and Ricky Kent are knocking at the door, but up to now they have not proved themselves capable of ousting the oldsters from the top place on the provincial scene and until they do, they will have to wait for recognition.

Maybe it would be better to concentrate on building a team for the future, but there are things against that too. The Willingdon Cup is a very treasured trophy, and criticism would be rife if there was any suggestion that B.C. did not place what looks its strongest team in the field.

That at least in what has been done this year. The fellows with the best scores have made the side.

At the same time there must be sympathy for Wakeham, a younger player who has won most of the honors in Canadian golf, and one who has never let the province down. It was perhaps one shot in his third round at Kelowna that proved so important.

At the fifth hole—265 yards—Wakeham pulled out a big one to make the green, and a possible eagle two. The ball was played slightly to the left of the hole. It took a bad bounce and hopped over the out-of-bounds fence that is, like the third at Oak Bay, perilously near the line to the hole.

The two-stroke penalty Wakeham suffered here made the difference between qualifying and being eliminated. I noted that most of the players at this hole were inclined to play safe—relying on getting a little chip near enough to the hole for a chance at a par. But it is easy to be wise after the event, or without a clubstick in your hand.

The final at Kelowna was perhaps one of the finest ever to have been played in the B.C. championship. The scoring was excellent, and Bert Ticehurst, whose match play ability has never in the past equalled his genius with the card and pencil style of play, came out of his cocoon to prove that even against so dominant a personality as Bob Kidd, he could take the lead, lose it and then come back to a brilliant last-hole victory.

It must have seemed Ticehurst in some measure for the defeat he suffered at the hands of Nick Weslock in last year's national final in New Brunswick.

Ticehurst was hitting the ball magnificently, and what is more he was getting the vital putts to drop. If he can maintain this form he is not only a possible medalist—once again—in the Canadian Amateur but should prove an inspiring leader to the Willingdon Cup team.

Application forms for the B.C. Golf Association's junior golf college to be held at Royal Colwood, July 13-17 are available from Leo Derman, secretary Victoria District Committee, at Gorge Vale.

The fee for Victoria residents is $50, which does not include motel accommodation, but covers all meals and the various courses.

Applications with $30 deposit should be mailed to B.C. Golf Association Junior College, Box 5073, Vancouver 12.

Cash prizes totalling $3,000 for professionals are offered for the first Fraser Valley Open Championship. It will be played at Beach Grove Club near Ladner on Saturday and Sunday.

Open to players with 12 and under handicap, the entry fee is $10 amateur and $25 professional. First round on Saturday will be followed with 36 holes Sunday. The low 90 in the first round qualify for the Sunday play.

Andy Wallace and members of the Beach Grove club extend hearty welcome to Vancouver Island golfers—the course is very near the ferry terminal.

Los Angeles Roasts Dodgers After Another Sad Weekend

Los Angeles love affair with the Dodgers has gone sour, killed by a four-game series with San Francisco Giants in which the world series champions played like a Mets farm club.

Dodgers returned from a road trip in ninth place yesterday to be greeted by a newspaper headline "Four in a row to Giants—a civic diagram. Dodgers are bust of the year."

Not even a 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates last night

"In fact, comparing them to peanut butter sandwiches is giving peanut butter the worst of it."

"They deserve it." Indisputably, the Dodgers have been a dog team... sheltered by a general manager who has told critics repeatedly that he doesn't want to put the knock on the boys because they are enduring pain privately.

"If they are, they deserve it." In spades. They are principals in America's greatest farce.

Before Dodgers' 1-0 loss to the Giants Sunday, manager Walt Alston met with the team and urged his players to try harder "as a matter of personal pride." He also said he may have to fine a few players if things don't change.

Twin-Sister Act On Tennis Court

It is entirely possible that the players will have to tell the umpire who wins today's girls' singles final in the Pacific junior tennis championships at Victoria Racquets Club.

On one side of the net will be Maureen Watts. On the other side will be Lindsay Watts. They are sisters—and identical twins. Maureen reached the under-18 final yesterday by beating top-seeded Mary Maymirth of Victoria, 6-3, 6-3, then stopping Oak Bay's Tina Booker, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. Lindsay entered the final with a 6-4, 3-6, 6-1 win over second-seeded Nancy Green of Toronto.

DOUBLE TEAM

The twins, who play out of Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, will team up in the under-18 doubles after they have settled their differences in singles.

meeting Miss Booker and Miss Maymirth in the final. Victoria area players also got to the finals in three other events. Miss Booker beat Janice Tindle of Vancouver, 6-3, 6-2, in the under-16 singles, and plays Miss Green today.

OTHER FINALS

Susan Hogg of Oak Bay meets Fair Gordon of Capilano in the under-12 final, and Roger Skilling of Victoria plays Ted Kaplan of Vancouver for the under-14 title.

Pat and Roger Skilling were still in contention for the under-16 doubles crown as play continued today.

The draw:

6:30 a.m.—Girls' under-12 singles, Fair Gordon (Cap.) vs. Susan Hogg (CB); boys' under-12 singles, Mark Tindle (Van.) vs. Tony Hogg (CB); girls' under-14 singles, Roger Skilling (Vic.) vs. Ted Kaplan (Van.); boys' under-14 singles, Roger Skilling (Vic.) vs. Ted Kaplan (Van.).

12:30 p.m.—Girls' under-18 singles, Maureen Watts (Van.) vs. Mary Maymirth (Vic.); boys' under-18 singles, Lindsay Watts (Van.) vs. Tina Booker (Vic.); girls' under-16 singles, Nancy Green (Tor.) vs. Janice Tindle (Van.); boys' under-16 singles, Janice Tindle (Van.) vs. Nancy Green (Tor.).

2 p.m.—Girls' under-12 doubles, L. and M. Watts (Van.) vs. Mary Maymirth and Tina Booker (Vic.); boys' under-12 doubles, Mark Tindle and Ted Kaplan (Van.) vs. Tony Hogg and Roger Skilling (Vic.); girls' under-14 doubles, Roger Skilling and Ted Kaplan (Van.) vs. Janice Tindle and Nancy Green (Tor.); boys' under-14 doubles, Roger Skilling and Ted Kaplan (Van.) vs. Janice Tindle and Nancy Green (Tor.).

NICKLAUS THIRD

Nicklaus, who started the day deadlocked with Palmer, fell two strokes back on the first hole. He never caught up.

Terry Dill of Muleshoe, Tex., tied Nicklaus for third place. Deadlocked at 274 in fifth place were Billy Casper, Don January, Bruce Devlin and Ed Griffiths.

Died at Convention

Last Rites Today For Mrs. McGregor

Funeral services for Mrs. Lilian C. McGregor, 1454 Beach Drive, will be held at First United Church today at 3 p.m.

Mrs. McGregor died suddenly Friday while attending an insurance convention with her husband, Fred, a Banff.

Services will be conducted by Rev. Robert J. D. Morris, and interment at Royal Oak Cemetery will follow.

WELFARE, CHARITY

Mrs. McGregor was well-known in Victoria for her interest in social welfare and various charitable organizations.

She was a life member of the ladies auxiliary of the First United Church; an executive member of the Women's Canadian Club; a member of the ladies auxiliary to the YMCA; a past president of the PEO Sisterhood, and a prominent member of the Oak Bay division of the Lady Laurier Club.

HERE 25 YEARS

Mrs. McGregor, who was 73 at the time of her death, was born in California in 1891 and educated in England. She settled in Victoria upon her marriage 33 years ago.

Mrs. Lilian McGregor

In addition to her husband, Fred, Mrs. McGregor is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Doreen Sweeting of 2354 Eastdown; three sons, Maurice, of Victoria, Bruce, of Burlington, Ont.; and Ray, of Vancouver; and eight grandchildren.

- Took no action on James Bay rezoning.

- Confirmed appointment of F. A. Davidson as Social Welfare Administrator.

- Ordered extension of cluster lights on Fort Street from Government to Wharf at a cost of $2,600.

- Authorized an expenditure of $225 for ventilation in Victoria Visitors' Bureau building.

- Ordered purchase of a second boiler for the police station at a cost of $14,200.

Speedup Seen for Island Growers

Richter Tells of Japanese Hydroponic Methods

Japanese methods of speeding up greenhouse operations may be introduced here as the result of a recent trip to the Orient by Agriculture Minister Frank Richter.

The minister returned last Friday from a 23-day trip undertaken by a 15-man B.C. trade mission.

Mr. Richter said yesterday hydroponic farming methods developed in Japan greatly speed up the growth of products like cucumbers, tomatoes, pineapples, and string beans.

It also enables the farmer, the minister said, to gear his production to high-price markets. Introduction of the hydroponic methods—using water to supply chemical nutrients to plants—could "substantially increase" production in existing greenhouses throughout the province, said Mr. Richter.

But, he added, it will take some time to assess all the information gathered on the Japanese trip and decide what can be adapted to B.C. use.

Plastic tubing to carry the chemical-laden water supply is laid in trenches filled with gravel. The supply of water is controlled by highly automated methods to offset the serious shortage of farm labor in Japan, the minister said.

Mr. Richter found the Japanese were interested in buying more Canadian wheat and certain "specialty items" such as forage seeds and foundation dairy stock. The minister said he felt "some potential" existed for increased trade in agricultural items.

Mr. Richter added that he was interested to learn that Japanese agricultural experts figure they can get 30 per cent greater production under glass than under polyethylene plastic covers. He believes Japan is ahead of Canada in technical achievements in agriculture.

Since B.C. and particularly southern Vancouver Island already have a great many greenhouses, there is a good chance that hydroponic methods would enable operators to produce more in a shorter time.

Our seats lean over backwards to please you

Like all Rambler features, our exclusive reclining seats are designed to give "maximum usefulness to the user." We don't regard them simply as a place to sit. They are built to be an asset to your driving.

You can't be relaxed and alert if you're forced into a tiring, awkward position. And seats that just move back and forth aren't good enough. They only allow for leg length. Everyone has his own natural posture and Rambler seats recline at a touch to adjust to it. Their coil-spring construction supports you firmly. And their chair height places you right up where you have a clear, unobstructed view of the road ahead.

Reclining seats are our most distinctive comfort feature. But they are only one of many, each a part of Rambler's detail quality. It's this attention to detail that has made Rambler Canada's best car value.

Our seats may lean over backwards but we keep moving forward. Spend a pleasant hour looking over the newest Rambler features. Visit your nearest dealer soon.

These other exclusive Rambler features complete your comfort

HEADRESTS This distinctive option is available on few other cars. Inexpensive to install, they are a proven comfort and safety feature.

ROOFLINER Made of fibreglass, it's standard on the Classic and Ambassador. It insulates—keeps heat in during winter, heat out in summer. It also cuts noise by 30%.

DOUBLE DOOR SEALS An industry exclusive, double door seals protect you against draughts and dust. Curved glass side windows give extra shoulder room for added comfort.

Doctor's Work Not Over

Newfoundland Hospital Post Beckons

By A. H. MURPHY
Retirement may mean slippers and fireside for some people but for one Victoria doctor it means a new career and a new challenge in an outpost hospital far from sunny Victoria.
Far from being frightened or even hesitant about the prospect Dr. Adam N. Beattie sits in his comfortable home at 1745 St. Ann and talks about the post he is taking in a United Church hospital in Newfoundland with anticipation and relish.
But he will not be alone.

With him will be his wife who is a graduate nurse and who, although she will not be on the staff, expects to contribute her bit to the new venture.
Dr. Beattie has been with the provincial government department of health service since 1946, during which time he has been director of the several of the department health units including one of the largest in central Vancouver Island.

This soft-spoken man with a long record of public service finished his career as assistant to the Chief Medical Officer, Greater Victoria.
One colorful chapter in his life came shortly after graduation from the University of Western Ontario at London.
After two years internship he took posts for four years as a ships surgeon, serving on the Empress of Asia, the Empress of Japan and the RMS Niagara on the run from Vancouver to Sydney, Australia.

The life of a ship's surgeon has its advantages but there are moments of crisis.
"I remember operating for a perforated duodenal ulcer at sea," said Dr. Beattie. "That is, to say the least, a bit tricky."
He recalled other serious surgery at sea—moments of tension in sharp contrast to the routine treatment every doctor gives at sea or on land.

After a stretch as resident doctor for the Imperial Oil Company at Iloilo, B.C., from 1937 to 1941, Dr. Beattie joined the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps. From 1942 to 1946 he was stationed at London as venereal disease control officer for military district number 2.

In 1946 he joined the provincial government health service and at various times served as health director in Kelowna, Nanaimo, Saanich, and for the past two years, as assistant to the MHO in Greater Victoria.

The picture of three pretty girls in the living room brought a proud-father gleam to Dr. Beattie's eye as he told about his married daughter and his other two, who are leaving early in July on a trip which will take them to several countries in Europe and Asia including Moscow.

Baie Verte, Newfoundland, where the hospital is even now being built will be the new address for a public servant who is starting a new career at age 65.

Exchange Plan

Victorians To Study Quebec

Seven Victoria girls are among 25 B.C. students who left yesterday for Quebec to spend two weeks with Quebec families under an exchange scheme organized by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

On their return they will bring with them French-Canadian students to spend two weeks at their parents' homes.

FOUR SCHOOLS

The Victoria district girls are:
Judy Goodwin, 2610 Mount
Stephen, from Victoria High School; Mary Kendrick, 757
Transit and Susan Evans, 1960
Cochrane, Oak Bay Senior High School; Gillian Coombs, 1960
Waterloo, Mount Douglas; Linda
Rich, Agnes Street, Mount View; Janet Gaddis, 4136 Cedar Hill and Wendy Watkins, Happy Valley, of Norfolk House.

The visits are designed to improve understanding and goodwill between English and French-speaking Canadians.

STUDIED FRENCH

All students involved in the exchange have studied two years of French.

In all, the council will exchange 1,064 students this year and 5,000 during the Centennial Year, 1967.

Garden Notes

Gadget Earns Raves

By M. V. CHERNIT, FRES

One of the most welcome fringe benefits attached to my job is the fact that manufacturers of garden products send me free samples. If a producer of garden chemicals, say, comes out with a new and improved formula, he sends me a package of the stuff to try out, and I have a grand time messing happily around the garden with all these insecticides, fertilizers, weedkillers and fungicides. The manufacturers of garden gadgets, too, have been pretty good about submitting models for testing. At least in the lower-price bracket—nobody has ever tried to force a rotary tiller or a self-propelled motor mower upon my reluctant person.

Mind you, they don't send me all this loot just because they like the color of my beautiful blue eyes—they are looking for a free plug for their product. And if the product has what it takes, they get it. I have been quick enough to criticize catchpenny devices and doubtful chemicals, so it is only fair that I should report the good ones, even though my testing procedures are far from scientific. I did a spot of raving recently about a new gadget called a Root-Alder, a device for injecting hose water, with or without fertilizer, deep into the ground and directly to the roots of our plants. Since my last report, I have discovered several new uses for this grand little garden accessory.

Aerating the front lawn, for instance, has always been a beast of a chore before I got my Root-Alder, and I have always loathed the job of punching holes through the sod to improve drainage and allow air and water to enter. I have yet to find any kind of spiked roller which would do a satisfactory job—at least at a price I could afford to pay—so I have always used a hollow-tined aerating fork for this most essential operation, and on a big lawn, a lot of heavy labor is involved.

The Root-Alder is as light as a light-weight walking stick, and with the hose pressure reduced to not much better than a trickle, the water coming out the tip bores its own hole without any strenuous pushing and tugging at all. It is still a time-consuming job to do a big lawn with holes a foot apart each way, but it is a pleasant pottering, with very little physical effort involved, and I have the satisfaction of knowing that the lawn won't need watering for a long time with all that water injected deep under its roots.

I could have injected fertilizer solution just as easily as plain water, for the syphonizing gadget at the tap end of the hose works like a charm. However, my lawn has been well fed with bag fertilizer this year, so I decided to let the rubber tube of the syphon dangle free, thereby injecting air bubbles along with the water, which cannot help but benefit the health of the grass.

Some of my flower beds are mulched with peat moss to keep down weeds and conserve soil moisture, and watering these beds has always been something of a problem, for when the peat dries out in the sun, it takes enormous quantities of water to wet it again before any moisture can penetrate to the roots below. With the Root-Alder, it was a simple matter to inject water directly to the roots without wetting the peat at all—it is a better mulch, with better insulating properties, when bone dry.

One of our rhododendrons was looking a bit anemic, showing the typical symptoms of iron hunger—pale leaves with prominent dark green veins. It took only a few minutes to dissolve some Sequestrene 530 in a bucket of water and inject this iron tonic deeply into the soil under the outermost branch tips of the bush.

STANTON DELAPLANE's Postcard from Paris

Say Fuori To Be Dentro

Since everybody who goes to Paris must come home and brag about it, you should know what is "in" and what is "out."

To be really "in," you should say it in Italian: Dentro—"in." Fuori—"out."

Figuring out what is dentro and what is fuori is one of the greatest pleasures of the International Set. Though I must say that "International Set" is fuorissimo—the outest.

These dentro days, one says the "Jet Set." Isn't that dentrissimo?

The Costa Brava is fuori. Too many Germans. Everything is fuori when the German tourists move in. Unless the Aga Khan gives it a nod. Then it is dentro. Lavender-tinted hair is dentro from what I see on the boulevards.

Beetle haircuts are dentrissimo with young Paris. Vodka is presently fuori. But the French 75—champagne and cognac—is dentro again. Knowledge of the First World War is dentro. And a critical summary of what Joffre SHOULD have done on the Marne is dentrissimo.

Christine Keeler as a topic of conversation is fuori. The whole Profumo scandal is fuori. Maxim's is still dentro for cocktails upstairs. Le Cowboy places are fuori. They went thataway.

Russia is fuori with the politically dentro. China is dentro. But Albania—if you can talk about it—is dentrissimo.

What is fuori with the Jet Set is not always fuori with American tourists.

I have formed a committee of American tourists to see what is dentro and what is fuori.

My committee is two ladies—(I think from Texas)—in the next room to mine. The ladies have breakfast in their room. I hear their conversation clearly. "... a little place right next to that glove store, near the American Express. It has REAL Texas chili!" That chili parlor is dentro.

I am sorry to say that Liz Taylor is fuori with my committee. They aren't very dentro on the Burton thing. Even if she did marry him. Finally. They think it will soon be fuori.

My committee says French coffee is fuorissimo. They are sure are glad they thought of bringing along some instant coffee. Which is dentro enough if you haven't got a coffee pot.

French food is mighty dentro. The maid is real sweet and served on a button yesterday. Paris is dentro.

Reports
SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—George Hamilton scotched the rumor that the pretty daughter of the Duchess of Bedford, Catherine Millnere, was staying with him at his large, beautiful estate in Beverly Hills. "She is living at the home of the Millnere family," George assured me. Nonetheless he is very delighted that she came to Hollywood at his request. George saw a great deal of Mile. Millnere while he was filming The Victors in London. And he is more in love than he has been since he was engaged to Susan Warner.

Kim Novak will be off to England after a brief vacation, to star for director Terence Young (Dr. No and From Russia with Love) in Moll Flanders. Moll can take her place alongside Fanny Hill for one of the bawdiest, naughtiest heroines of all-time fiction. Kim is currently completing Kiss Me Stupid. She has been quietly learning her trade the way Elizabeth Taylor did in bygone years in Hollywood.

This is the latest on the Playboy film. Tony Curtis and Hugh Hefner are still planning to make it. But not with Columbia. They had a deal with the studio and a number of scripts were prepared, none of them so good, so they acquired the rights from Columbia and will make a deal with another company. Tony is rich enough to finance the film himself—if he wants to.

Alain Delon—who earned more money in Europe this past year than any other star, with the exception always of million-dollar-gal Sophia Loren—was delighted, he told me, that Ann Margret will be his co-star in his first American film, Scratch a Thief. Alain was passing through Hollywood from the Orient, where he publicized his picture, Have I the Right to Kill?

At the Gallery

By Ina D. D. Uthoff

Sales Major Problem

When I recently visited Herbert Sieber's in his Oak Bay studio I was shown, on the screen, transparencies of the paintings he now has on exhibition in one of the Los Angeles private galleries.

Inspired by his travels for the past year on a Canada Council grant, he has produced a new series of paintings on the subject of the centaur and his relation to man, the hybrid creature of man and horse, metaphorically, this thing of double nature.

This started us off on the question of exhibitions and the difficulties a painter has in marketing his work with reasonable profit to himself.

We hear about the fantastically high prices the artist is receiving for his work nowadays.

All he has to do is to scribble some paint on to a board or canvas and attach an ambiguous title to it when it will immediately sell for a handsome sum.

This has been known to happen but examples would be hard to find.

What generally takes place, is that in order to make his work known, or to keep it before the public, it is advisable to contact the owner or director of a private gallery with whom an arrangement may be made to exhibit and handle to work on a 50-50 basis, or an even higher percentage may be asked if the chosen gallery is of high repute, and well located in a large city. This sum covers the cost of framing, advertising, selling and entertaining possible buyers of the artist's work.

I quote 50 per cent of the selling price of a painting as an average gain to the artist, but if he is fortunate enough to be able to make what appears to be a more profitable arrangement for himself he will be expected to supply his own frames, pay for any advertising and entertaining and make his own contacts with potential buyers.

Now this is all leading up to the fact that a new gallery has been opened here by Mr. Bent Lawrence at the corner of Quadra and Fort Street.

I spent an agreeable hour there enjoying the atmosphere created by the simple decor. Canvas-covered walls are well suited to the drawings and paintings shown.

I was particularly interested in Richard Ciesla's abstraction which seems to me to point a direction for this talented artist's future work which will be rich in promise. It was new to me and I was much impressed.

The drawings by Flemming Jorgensen I had seen before and liked very much.

Herbert Sieber's East of Istanbul was well chosen for the powerful impact as a window attraction.

The White House by Maxwell Bates had been sold before I got there on Monday but it was a painting that I had much admired.

Don Harvey's crayon drawings I am familiar with but am always ready to be stirred by them.

Finlayson Extension

City Passes Bylaw For Property Deal

City council yesterday gave final passage to a bylaw for acquisition of a 50-foot strip of property running from Douglas to Burnside to be used as an extension of Finlayson Street.

The strip runs through the centre of a 6½-acre property recently bought by Newell Morrison, who intends to locate his automobile agency there later this year.

FIRST STEP

Passage of the expropriation bylaw is council's usual first step before negotiating large purchases because it clearly sets out the city's intention and enables it to take control of the property regardless of disputes over price.

Expropriation is only finally carried out if there is no voluntary agreement and then price is fixed by arbitration.

Man Rescued From Pool

BURNABY (CP) — Robert Regish, 23, was pulled unconscious from an apartment swimming pool after his sister's screams brought help. He was revived by an inhalator crew en route to hospital and is reported in satisfactory condition.

The Annetta-C, drifting toward rocks with a broken gearbox, was towed by the Fraser's motor boat, under command of Lieut. Thomas Stephens.

She was later picked up by the fleet auxiliary vessel, 317 which towed her to a scheduled meeting with the U.S. Coast Guard ship Florida.

The Florida had picked up the crippled ship's radio message the night before and was heading north to meet her.

In Theatre Royal

Victoria Girl At Barkerville

A young Victoria woman has gone to help this summer's tourists at Barkerville recall the colorful days of the gold rush.

Miss Dorothy Hosie, 21, of 219 Superior, left recently for Barkerville Historic Park where the 1964 tourist season will be opened officially Tuesday by Cariboo MLA William Speare.

She will be among the performers in a vaudeville show which will play twice daily for 39 weeks at the Theatre Royal in Barkerville.

Miss Hosie, a veteran of several seasons with the Jerry Gossley Smile Show in Victoria, was picked for the Theatre Royal cast after auditions in Vancouver only a few weeks ago.

Tuesday's official season-opening ceremonies at the historic gold rush town will be held in the Theatre Royal with community leaders of several Cariboo towns attending along with Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace, chairman of the Barkerville advisory committee.

THIRD YEAR

The restored gold rush town now is in its seventh year of development. This will be the third year the Theatre Royal has been the entertainment highlight at Barkerville, where gold panning and stage coach rides also are offered.

Last year Barkerville, located 60 miles east of Quesnel, drew an estimated 100,000 people to the Cariboo.

Asphyxia Held Cause Of Hospital Death

A verdict of death due to asphyxia with no blame attached to anyone was returned by a coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Mrs. Charlotte Oliver, aged 50, at the Oak Lodge Private Hospital, June 20.

Mrs. Oliver was first thought to have died of a heart attack but a post mortem showed that she had regurgitated food and choked on it.

CONSIDER CARE

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre warned the jury yesterday morning that they should consider the question of negligence at the hospital because once care of a person is assumed, proper care must be given.

Mrs. Oliver, evidence showed, was "completely helpless" and had to be spooned on soft foods. It was at her evening meal that nurse Mrs. Margaret Watts noticed some blueness around Mrs. Oliver's lips as she fed her.

RAN FOR MATRON

The nurse looked for any obstruction in the patient's mouth and finding none ran for the matron, Mrs. Jean Frumerie, who gave artificial respiration. Questions were asked about a signal system and the need for a nurse to run for the matron but it was pointed out that the matron's station was only about 20 feet from Mrs. Oliver's room.

Teacher Writes Book to Prove It

High Schools Waste of Time?

Dr. Pontoni

By IAN SMITH

Dr. Andrea Pontoni believes high schools in this province are a waste of time—and he has written a book to prove it. He resigned his position in a Surrey high school and pocket $2,000 out of his own pocket to publish The Labyrinth, a stinging critique of the B.C. education system.

"We are wasting time pumping courses into students who do not want or need them," he maintains. "They do not learn and we insult them by giving out Ds."

"This is wrong; no teacher has the right to insult students by failing them in courses that they didn't want to take in the first place."

"Look at it all," he says. "A boy who wants to be a dentist has to take French; a mathematics student must study Shakespeare; a physics student must struggle with social studies."

"What is the use?" he asks rhetorically.

Dr. Pontoni, a 45-year-old Italian-born psychologist, has advanced a few answers that he hopes will revolutionize our system of schooling.

"I am sure that my system will be put into effect within 20 years," he stated. "The Russians already have something like it, and we can't afford to hold our children back."

Basically, his idea is to begin highly specialized training at the Grade 9 level, in effect dispensing with high school in favor of college-type courses. "At the end of Grade 9, all students would enter the 'College', and each would specialize in his best subject."

"We would determine a student's best subject by means of aptitude tests, taking into account also his family background, his previous work at school, everything."

One of the most radical aspects of his system is the fact that he would dispense with report cards and examinations, except at the end of what is now Grade 12. "A personal letter from the teacher to the parents should suffice," he says.

For the three years of "college" he would have the student spend two-thirds of his time at his specialty, and the rest of his time at subjects of his own choosing. There would be no compulsory subjects.

"There would be no discipline problem," Dr. Pontoni stated. "The children would be taking what they wanted for as long as they wanted, and they would not have time to be bored and cause a nuisance."

Dr. Pontoni would also place "humanism" back alongside science and mathematics in the program and would "return the teaching profession to its original dignity" by taking away the control that is presently exercised by the department of education and place them in the hands of the teachers.

"It should be like the doctors and the lawyers—they have control of their membership. This is what makes a profession."

Dr. Pontoni's book goes on sale for $2.50 at various Victoria bookstores today.

Ballots Sealed Before Count

Ballots from a strike vote taken yesterday have been sealed uncounted in their ballot boxes in an attempt to get Victoria carpenters and their employers to resume negotiations.

Postponement of counting of the ballots was ordered by B.C. deputy labor minister W. H. Sands and his action was announced immediately after the polls in the government-supervised strike vote closed at 8 p.m. last night.

CONTRACT DISPUTE

The strike vote came in a contract dispute between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the Victoria Building Industries Exchange. Affected are 25 employers which are members of the exchange, 27 independent contractors, and about 350 carpenters.

Victoria carpenters currently get $3 an hour. Union officials have said the union is seeking province-wide parity. Lower mainland carpenters, recently won a two-year contract which will eventually give them 45 cents an hour more than Victoria carpenters get now.

"EVERY HOPE IF . . ."

Mr. Sands said in a press release: "I have had the parties together and after carefully considering their position it is my opinion there is every hope for a settlement if negotiations are resumed."

"I am, therefore, directing that the ballot boxes be sealed until such time as the parties have had an opportunity to resume negotiations."

He later said the delaying of ballot-counting in this way is not an unusual move in such cases.

REASONABLE TIME

He said there is no statutory limit on how long the counting will be postponed, but the count could not be delayed unreasonably long.

There was no official count of how many carpenters voted, but a labor department official estimated it was at least 80 per cent of those eligible.

NO COMMENT

Arthur Leam, secretary of the union's B.C. Provincial Council of Carpenters, said he could not comment until union officials have studied the new development.

Carpenters in the Cranbrook-Kimberley area, who were making $3 an hour, went on strike Wednesday. Carpenters in the Kamloops area, who make $2.50, are to have a strike vote today.

Double Holiday Kickoff

July Looks Like Boomer For Island Tourist Trade

With Dominion Day to kick off and U.S. Independence Day close on its heels, July should be a big booster month for Vancouver Island tourism.

As June draws to a close, and with school out last week, there are already indications of an upsurge of Islanders taking off on fishing, boating, picnic and beach vacations.

MORE VISITORS

Also, visitors to the Island are quickly growing in numbers.

Despite the changeable weather of June, it was a good month for tourists, Victoria Visitors' Bureau commissioner Alan Maclean said yesterday.

At up-island spots, motel and trailer park operators reported a "terrific amount of traffic" in tourists already and said bookings for July, August and September were for the most part higher than last year.

RESERVATIONS UP

Trailers and cars from the mainland and from the U.S.A.—many from Alberta and Manitoba—were reported by most big tourist centres.

"Reservations are well ahead on last year," said Donald Corbett, operator of Painter's Lodge and Fishing Resort at Campbell River. Trailer resorts at Campbell River already look like little cities.

"TREMENDOUS"

Both at Qualicum Beach and at Courtenay, hoteliers and motel operators said they noticed a "tremendous influx" of tourists over the weekend.

"Things are looking very rosy for the summer," said J. H. Brownlee, manager of the Argonaut Hotel, Courtenay. "We're doing a lot of trade right now in food."

At the King Cole Resort and Trailer Park, Comox, Mrs. Jean Fleming said trailers were beginning to flood into the area.

FERRIES BUSIER

A spokesman for CPR ferry service said so far this year business had been up 25 per cent already.

"But with Dominion Day falling midweek, it's hard to say if many people will be going off the Island on day-trips," he said. "However, if the weather keeps up there should be a lot of U.S. visitors at the weekend."

"Seattle ferries are already sold out on car space. We're hoping for big crowds from the States on July 4."

GOOD BUILDUP

At Blaney's Travel Service, Victoria, which handles Washington State ferry business between Sidney and Anacortes, a spokesman said although there would be no increased services, a good holiday traffic build-up was anticipated.

Two extra flights to Vancouver are being held on for Wednesday by Air Canada, district sales manager E. G. Mooney said.

"But as most U.S. visitors come here by car we are not having extra flights on Saturday," he said.

Empress Hotel manager Leslie Parkinson said the summer tourist season appeared well under way, with lots of conventions slated to add to trade throughout the summer months.

Council Shelves Bus Fare Issue

The full-dress city council discussion on B.C. Hydro's plan to boost bus fares almost 100 per cent, which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon's meeting, has been shelved for at least a week.

Civil Servants To Meet Here

The second annual Canadian Civil Service Conference will be held next June in Victoria. Chairman of the conference will be Dr. H. M. Morrison, civil service commissioner for B.C.

At the group's first conference held last week in Halifax, Nova Scotia civil service commissioner G. E. Perry was chosen as president.

YVONNE MALCOLM

Parklands Bus Plan Approved

Residents of the Parklands district of Esquimalt will get bus service on a 90-day trial basis beginning July 6, it was disclosed at an Esquimalt council meeting last night.

A schedule approved by council last night includes five trips daily to the area, plus one special school trip which leaves Parklands at 8:30 a.m.

Along with mayors and reeves of interested municipalities Mayor R. B. Wilson will go to Vancouver on Friday to consult with Mayor William Rathie on the controversial issue which means so much to Victoria.

BRIEF NOT READ

The B.C. Hydro's submission to Victoria, in which it proposed the fare hike, was not read through yesterday. Nor were the several letters from private citizens protesting the increase and pointing out the hardships it could wreak on Victorians, particularly among the old people and children.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said he thought the whole contentious issue should be thrashed out in council committee before action of any kind was contemplated. This work-over along with the expert knowledge Mayor Wilson would be able to bring to the subject after Friday's meeting would reduce the problem to essentials.

50 Tons Of Berries

By JACK FEY

About 50 tons of berries were received at the Saanich Fruit Growers Association cold storage plant on Keating Cross Road yesterday, as the 1964 Saanich Peninsula strawberry harvest reached the halfway mark.

Herbert Bickford, general manager of the growers' association, estimated there were up to 1,500 pickers in the fields during the day and that it would be a "record day" in output.

BERRIES FOR OTTAWA

Esquimalt-Saanich MP George Chatterton said he will arrange to send some of the Saanich berries to Ottawa.

Meanwhile, a large refrigerated truck pulled in to take on another load for shipment to the lower mainland. Mr. Bickford expressed thanks, on behalf of the association, to National Employment Service manager George Bevis, school board officials and the general public "for the wonderful co-operation which they showed in getting this year's crop picked."

Activities Galore for Children While Vacationing from School

School may have ended for the summer for youngsters in the Greater Victoria district but some won't stop learning.

Between now and September there are swim classes, reading clubs, painting lessons and organized park activities planned for the vacationing children.

PAINTERS OUT

In yesterday's brilliant sunshine, the first of hundreds of children started their painting in the parks program in Beacon Hill Park and at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Saanich.

Age groups are six to eight; nine to 12, and 13 to 16.

SWIM CLASSES

The two Victoria library reading clubs also started yesterday with the Bookworms, Grades 4, 5 and 6 meeting at 10:30 a.m. and the Mike Mulligan Club for Grades 1, 2 and 3 meeting at 9:30.

For the more athletically inclined there are Colonel swim class due to start at Elk Lake, similar classes at the YMCA and other sports clubs in the area.

Oak Bay Recreation Commission starts its parks program July 6 at Windsor and Carnarvon Park where children will be occupied with games and handicrafts.

Playground safety is the theme for the opening week when police and firemen will be guests.

Mexico provides the second part in this summer's parks week's theme with children making sombreroes.

In Victoria, it is expected that 20,000 children will take part.

Mill Fine—But No Smoke

City council is willing to "look with favor" on the establishment of a sawmill on the Songhees Indian reserve—providing there are guarantees against smoke.

Council agreed yesterday to recommend to the provincial government that a mill be allowed on a section of land leased to Island Tug and Barge but the ever-present bugbear of smoke was much to the forefront in Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow's mind.

"As chairman of this beleaguered, bearded smoke committee I want to be sure that there is absolute control," he said. City manager Dennis Young was ordered to keep a careful eye on the project.

Signals Hit

Youth's Death Accident

A verdict of accidental death with no blame attached has been returned by a coroner's jury in the death Friday of a 17-year-old Langford youth in a logging accident.

Ferry Arthur, 1630 Dunford, a Grade 10 Belmont High School student was killed on the first day of his summer job.

BETTER SYSTEM

But the jury recommended that a better system of signals between bush workers replace hand signals currently used.

The youth was working as a hooklender's helper with Stevens Logging Company and was helping with a cable used to drag logs out of the bush.

The cable had been hooked onto a log and was being dragged along when the log hit a snag and swung around, striking and killing him instantly.

No Doubts About No Parking

People may still fume when their cars are towed away by police for violation of parking regulations but they won't be able to complain of lack of notice, if city hall plans work out.

Mayor R. B. Wilson told council yesterday that the signs giving notice of the rules and penalties were being completely redesigned. A representative from city traffic department was sent to Vancouver to see how they do it over there and signs will be redesigned here.

As a matter of fact, said the mayor, no tourist's car had been hauled away for two weeks.

Annual Picnic

St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will stage its annual picnic on Wednesday at the Saanich Experimental Farm. Those requiring transportation should meet at Holyrood House at 11 a.m.

When people think of phoning you, are you only half there?

People looking up a number in a telephone directory are usually in a hurry.

If they can't find your name quickly and easily, they sometimes have an unfortunate habit of calling one of your competitors. That's why additional listings pay for themselves many times over.

If you're an accountant or an hotelkeeper, a lawyer or a veterinary surgeon, an architect or a taxi operator, you are only one of the thousands of different business and professional people who can benefit by listing themselves under more than one heading.

The same applies if your name is difficult to remember accurately. A company called Johnson & Jackson, for example, would be wise to take out an additional listing under "Jackson & Johnson".

There are many other cases in which an additional listing or listings can help ensure that you get the fullest possible share of business. The cost of these valuable safeguards? About 2½ cents per day. At this price you really can't afford to be only half there!

Call our Marketing and Sales Department or your local B.C. TEL Business Office this week and discuss with one of our experienced consultants what additional listings you could profitably use. No obligation, of course.

It Looks Like 1963 Champ Will Be Winner Again

Last year's King Fisherman Contest world champion Compt Angler has almost certainly done it again.

His Upton has recorded a 64-pound brown trout from the Cowichan River which will undoubtedly win him a Prince Button for June in the River Trout (other than steelhead or rainbow) category. Last week he caught a 31-pound tye, one of only three or four recorded this month.

He won Prince Buttons in May for coho and bass.

This month he has caught big enough fish to ensure him Prince Buttons for spring salmon. The leads the contest so far with a 43.8-pounder from Beecher Bay), tye, lake trout and now river trout.

When button winners are officially announced about the middle of July he will become the second person to win the Compt Angler title two years in succession. Oak Bay Marina operator Bob Wright did it because he went into the marine business.

The title goes to the first person to win Prince awards in all six categories.

Mr. Upton, by winning all six buttons in two months, has set a new record by four months and accomplished an almost unbelievable feat of fishing skill.

Two Scouts Home Safe —Day Late

Two Victoria Boy Scouts turned up exactly 24 hours late but none the worse for an extra night in the bush after a hiking expedition in the Jordan Meadows area over the weekend.

Jim Tierle, of 2420 Nottingham, and Richard Kenton, 2761 Dewdney, both 14, had set out Saturday morning on an overnight hike that was to gain them their first-class scouting medal.

They were to hike from the Leech River to the Bear Creek Dam, and expected to reach their destination Sunday afternoon.

But they missed a trail and became lost.

"It wasn't any problem, though," stated Jim. "We had lots of food, so we just pitched the tent and had a good night's sleep."

AHEAD OF FATHER

They found their way out at about 2 p.m. Monday afternoon, when they were met by a party of loggers and transported home. Jim actually arrived home before his father, Alan, who manages the Prince Charles Hotel at 225 Gorge. The boys' parents were among a number of searchers looking for the boys.

The boys weren't sure whether or not they had passed their test.

"I'll have to ask my scoutmaster," said Jim.

In Tokyo on Way Home

City Sportsman Drowns

Young Victoria sportsman Robert G. McKee drowned Saturday in Tokyo, his last stop before his planned return to Victoria after a three-year absence.

He was the son of R. Gerald McKee, deputy minister of forests, and Mrs. McKee, 804 Terrace.

RUGBY, LACROSSE

Robert, 26, was well known in local sports. He starred at rugby in high school and university, and played lacrosse for two years with the Victoria Shamrocks and one year with Nanaimo.

He graduated from University of B.C. in 1961 in electrical engineering after playing on the Thunderbirds football team.

Mr. McKee, a strong swimmer, was apparently caught in an undertow at famous Ekaya beach, where the waves were unusually high following a storm the day before.

There were no eyewitnesses, although he was at the beach with friends. The body has not yet been recovered.

Hunter Killed Near Vernon

VERNON (CP)—Harry Joseph Thomas, 24, of a neighboring Indian reserve, was shot and killed at the weekend while hunting with a companion when a rifle discharged.

Police said an inquest will be held.

He had been travelling home from England by way of Asia when the accident occurred. He had been in England for the past three years taking further training while employed by Associated Electrical Industries, and was returning home to enter the Harvard school of business administration.

Mr. McKee had taken a three-month safari to Africa, and he decided to come home via Russia and various Asian countries, including India, Malaysia, Hong Kong and Japan.

EDUCATED HERE

Mr. McKee attended local elementary schools, Victoria High School, and Victoria College.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. E. E. Leishman of Toronto.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months. This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes stimulation less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator). Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

Very Handy Crew Smile Show Sailing

By BERT BENNY
The 12th in line of Jerry Goeley's steady succession of Smile Shows cast off, cleared the harbor and faced the open sea of public assessment last night.
It is a brave and handsome ship, propelled by the twin screws of humor and grace which will undoubtedly generate power enough to carry it through some pretty stormy waters. Right now, the engines need a bit of "running in" but it will not be long before they provide an exhilarating and spanking rate of knots throughout the summer's voyage.

Captain of the Smile Show is, of course, the inimitable Mr. Goeley, and he is as impressive as ever in his various "frightfully English" guises.
But he has signed on a very handy crew. Most expert, lively and facile, for instance, is Sylvia Mobey who handles all manner of different but important jobs with shining success.
Ron Korhonen is still an adept and imaginative acrobat and veteran Irene Henderson sings and acts very delightfully—even though her choice of song is not always completely happy.

Comedienne Bettie Ellis is always lots of fun; she has smart material and uses it to great advantage.
Last night the Smile Show had a shakedown cruise and, while some kinks remain to be smoothed out, the performance, certainly warrants a prediction of success.
The 1964 Smile Show continues nightly at 8:30 at the Oak Bay Auditorium through August 22.

Girls Buying Half-Suits In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver girls are buying topless swimsuits.
Stores have received orders for 72 swimsuits at $33 each, and one leading women's shop has two samples showing in a display window.
The display suits were flown from Europe and have been previewed for local photographers.
Judiciously placed black patches on the straps of the swimsuits seemed to solve—temporarily at least—the problem of overexposure.

Vancouver Festival Record Indicated

VANCOUVER (CP)—Organizers promise a record audience Wednesday for the extravagant opening night of the 1964 Vancouver International Festival.
Few seats were left Monday as workers outside the 2,800-seat Queen Elizabeth Theatre put the finishing touches to a 120-foot model of the Eiffel Tower. It emphasizes the French theme of the 7th annual festival.
The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, augmented to 100 members, performs Wednesday under French conductor Charles Münch, along with the Harvard Glee Club and Radcliffe Choral Society, who will sing Poulenc's Le Gloria.
The first-night audience will dine after the show on a massive buffet of hams, turkeys, B.C. salmon and huge legs of beef.
Thursday night the stars of the Paris Opera Ballet open and next Sunday Marilyn Tyler sings Marguerite in a production of Berlioz' concert opera The Damnation of Faust.

Beatles Withdraw Challenge

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—The Beatles Monday withdrew a challenge to "meet" youths who pelted the pop group with rotten eggs and tomatoes Sunday night.
The Beatles, who flew here Sunday night from New Zealand, had challenged the youths who bombarded them at the airport to "meet" them outside their hotel.
"If we do, we will just have thousands of eggs thrown at us," they said. "We'll just ignore it."
They said they were willing to forget the incident and added they might make some public appearances after all.

Mungo Martin Tribute

Native Spirit Lives On

By IAN ARBOL

The greatest memorial to Mungo Martin is seen by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes to be an inspiration for the revival of native carving and painting by the young Indians of today.

This declaration was made by Mr. Pearkes at the official opening yesterday of the graphic art of Chief Mungo Martin at Thunderbird House, third floor, Hudson's Bay Company.

BROUGHT BACK

"After the native arts had almost dropped out of existence, Mungo Martin brought back the natives' historic heritage," he said.

The Lieutenant-Governor spoke of a recent visit to the Indian Residential School at Alert where he was pleased to see native paintings and carvings, the work of the teen-agers there, adorning the school.

Mr. Pearkes sees an awakening interest in the province among the white people and the Indians.

PANEL SHOWN

On exhibit with Mungo Martin's work is a panel, a preliminary study in bronze plaster, depicting Chief Mungo Martin in his two principal attributes, that of the totem carver and that of Kwakiutl chief.

The design is by Bill Reid of Vancouver, a friend of and co-worker with Chief Martin for years.

IT ACCEPTED

On behalf of a committee of Victoria citizens who commissioned the work, Colin Graham, director of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, has announced "preliminary acceptance" of Reid's submission.

In its final stage the Martin memorial will be approached by a team of seven feet high and of copper. It will be an outdoor exhibit, probably in Thunderbird Park.

Funds for the panel are being raised by public subscription as a tribute to the chief from the people of British Columbia. The aim of the drive is for $5,500.

VANCOUVER SHOWING

The exhibit of Mungo Martin's work will remain in Victoria at the Bay until July 11, after which it will be shown in the Vancouver store from July 11 to July 25.

The permanent display will be in the provincial museum. "It will be a memorial type of exhibit," announced director Dr. G. C. Carl.

Also at the ceremonies yesterday afternoon, Stuart Keate, Vancouver Sun publisher, presented Chief Martin's adopted daughter, Mrs. Helen Hunt, with the Canada Council Medal.

Flag Debate to End

OTTAWA (UPI)—The federal government and opposition parties appear to have broken an angry impasse that had threatened to block crucial legislation and prevent any summer recess.

Informed sources said the government House leader, Guy Favreau, proposed a compromise that would have the national flag debate resumed only until the end of this week.

The House yesterday passed an interim money supply bill that had been debated for more than five days, and went on to consider legislation to unify the three commands in the national defence department.

Favreau was to announce later whether the flag debate is to resume or be postponed until an agenda is agreed upon later today.

In either event, the flag resolution was expected to be debated only until the end of this week.

Russians Desert China?

MOSCOW (UPI) — A high Soviet official has hinted that the Kremlin might withhold military support from Communist China on the grounds Peking has departed from Communist principles of peaceful co-existence.

MAY DENY ROCKETS

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, who also is the Soviet Union's chief disarmament negotiator, suggested in an article in the government newspaper Izvestia, that Russia's rocket-nuclear shield might be denied to Peking.

This came in the wake of a warning from the United States to the Chinese that they risked war in connection with the troubled situation in South Viet Nam and Laos.

Gordon on Separation:

'Study Couldn't Prove Favorable'

LONDON (CP) — Finance Minister Walter Gordon said today Monday night that no study of the Canadian situation could prove favorable to Quebec separation.

"It's like talking about splitting London away from the rest of Britain," Gordon told a press conference.

The visiting Canadian minister had been asked what would be the effect if an economic

Juana Castro

Successor? Khrushchev Doesn't Care

OSLO (CP) — A jovial, gesticulating Nikita Khrushchev told his Norwegian hosts Monday night he did not care who would succeed him as premier of the Soviet Union. (See below).

According to a Norwegian spokesman who was present during a meeting between the Russian leader, Norwegian parliamentary leaders and Premier Einar Gerhardsen, Khrushchev was quoted as saying: "We have now established the necessary apparatus of party leadership to take care of the question of succession."

Khrushchev made the statement during a government banquet.

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Juana Castro Ruz, sister of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, said Monday she has broken with him and is seeking political asylum in Mexico. Miss Castro, who arrived here five days ago from Havana, called her brother "a Communist dictator."

"I have broken all bonds with Fidel and Raul," Miss Castro told a news conference here. Raul Castro is Castro's brother and Cuban minister of armed forces.

"TO RUSSIANS"

"I can no longer remain indifferent to what is happening in my country since the middle part of 1959 when my brothers began to deliver it to Russian imperialism," she added.

Miss Castro said she has been able to verify personally that there are "at least 70,000 political prisoners in Cuban jails who are victims of cruel treatment."

RISK PERSECUTION

"The practice of Roman Catholicism has not been banned, but those who go to church risk being persecuted," she said.

"On one occasion I saw a young fellow shot to death in a church. It was never determined who killed him."

Miss Castro charged that "Cuba was now entirely under Communist control," and added: "Communists train the guerrillas that are sent to Latin America to spread subversion."

"Fidel promised to hold free elections within 18 months after he assumed power, but in no time he convinced the people that they should do without elections and he became a dictator."

Pastor Charged

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Rev. Russell D. Hornburg, a United Church minister who once ran a teenage night club at his church here, was arraigned Monday on eight charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

UN Troops Leave Today Chaos Feared in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—the feuding factions in the blood-soaked Congo. The Congo has been torn by strife almost since the moment it was granted independence on June 30, 1961, by Belgium.

Tshombe, who returned in triumph Friday from 18 months of self-imposed exile, was considered likely to be the Congo's next premier. The mandate of Premier Cyrille Adoula, appointed by parliament Aug. 2, 1962, ends today along with that of the UN main hope for reconciliation of

Britt Sullivan

Sharks?

Atlantic Swimmer Vanishes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Long distance swimmer Britt Sullivan, bothered by a school of sharks on the first leg of an attempted trans-Atlantic swim, vanished Sunday night and a day-long search Monday by the Coast Guard failed to turn up any trace of her.

Two helicopters and an 82-foot cutter crisscrossed the waters off Fire Island, a popular summer resort strip off the coast of Long Island where the 28-year-old former navy WAVE was last seen.

ONE MORE TRY

They were recalled as night fell and a coast guard spokesman said "one more try" at finding the woman would be made today.

Captain Laurence Griffith, in command of a 35-foot boat escorting the swimmer, notified the Coast Guard that Miss Sullivan had to be pulled from the water Sunday night when a large school of sharks came within 20 yards of her. Later, she continued the swim.

RE-ENTERED WATER

Griffith said Miss Sullivan reentered the water on a swim toward Montauk Point on the eastern tip of Long Island. There, she was to have turned and headed out across the Atlantic toward Europe.

Greetings in Norway:

Go Home, You Fat

He Thought Danish Lips Were White Until He Saw the Knuckles in Sweden

By EDWIN ROTH from Oslo

"Go home, you fat..."

With this abusive scream, cut off by a policeman's gloved hand, a Norwegian woman greeted Soviet Premier Khrushchev on his first day of a five-day state visit to her country.

There were some cheers, too, but a definite undercurrent of hostility as the Red leader arrived from Sweden to continue trade talks with Scandinavian officials.

Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen, speaking at a state banquet, bluntly challenged Khrushchev to increase free cultural and economic exchanges across borders and ideological divisions.

His reception has been less than enthusiastic throughout his 15-day tour. The grimmest part has been Sweden.

In shiny white steel helmets and grey uniforms, many tough military policemen stood with their black army boots on the carpets inside Stockholm's royal palace—turning their backs on King Gustaf Adolf and his guest.

Never before had Swedish soldiers stood with their backs to their king, and they did so only because his guest was a Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev. They had to stand with their faces towards us newsmen to ensure (although our special police card with photographs, and our green "Supplementary Accreditation Card Number 3" giving admission to the palace had been checked five times before we got there) that none of us would attempt to kill Khrushchev or to kidnap him from the palace.

Stories of a highly melodramatic kidnap plot by fanatical Hungarian and/or Ukrainian and/or Baltic refugees filled the Swedish press, so that even five-times checked newsmen were faced by armed men in steel helmets.

Khrushchev Tour May Be Fiasco

Other soldiers stood acolyting at doors inside the palace, holding their bayoneted automatic rifles at the ready.

"This is the first time that armed soldiers in steel helmets are on duty inside the palace during a state visit," said Swedish radio reporter Lemnart Swahn, who always attends these visits. "Usually some soldiers are dressed in very colorful medieval uniforms, and, of course, they stand facing the king and his guests."

No greater contrast was possible than that between Khrushchev's visit to King Frederick of Denmark in his summer castle at Fredensborg near Copenhagen, and Khrushchev's visit to King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden.

In Fredensborg Castle, the Danish royal guards wore their usual formal bayonetted uniforms. King Frederick met Khrushchev on the steps, and led him smiling into his castle. When the Danish royal family and Khrushchev walked into the castle park after lunch, all accredited newsmen (who meanwhile had been given a magnificent lunch near the castle by the Danish government) were admitted, and were watched only by very few security men in civilian clothes.

There were no soldiers in field uniforms, no guards stood facing us, and the Danish royal family with Khrushchev left their path to walk right into the crowd of newsmen.

This contrast between NATO member and neutral Sweden was illustrated by the Swedish government. Sweden's security measures were quite deliberately ostentatious and exaggerated.

In every way diplomatically possible, the Swedish government wanted to surround Khrushchev's visit with an atmosphere of white-knuckled leg toughness.

In Denmark, the Danish government subtly ridiculed all of Khrushchev's visit, and made him very angry.

Even when Khrushchev publicly advised the workers of Denmark's largest shipyard how to strike, Danish Foreign Minister Per Bækterup commented, smiling: "He suggested nothing illegal—because here in Sweden all workers are allowed to strike any time they think it useful, while in Russia all strikes are forbidden."

When hordes of newsmen followed Khrushchev while he inspected cows and pigs, the scenes were as ridiculous as the Danish government wanted them to be.

The official English-language working program for Khrushchev's visit to Denmark contained the delightful sentence: "When Prime Minister Khrushchev has left the platform, newsmen will board the buses and proceed to the pig sties, where there will be no restrictions for the press."

By complete contrast, the Swedish government deliberately avoided any trace of humor in Khrushchev's visitation of Sweden. The absence of humor from the Swedish national character was combined with a security problem in which a Dallas complex was aggravated by fear of demonstrations (or worse) from 80,000 anti-Communist East-European refugees.

Sweden's Social-Democratic government also used every method of diplomatic psychology—or psychological diplomacy—to surround Khrushchev in Sweden with the atmosphere of a hated dictator whose life must be guarded by thousands of armed men.

Nobody in Sweden has forgotten that only this month the 63-year-old Swedish colonel Stig Wennerstrom, former military attache in Washington, was sentenced in Stockholm to life imprisonment after pleading guilty to having been a highly-paid Soviet spy for 16 years.

Wennerstrom became a Soviet general, Swedish government spokesmen have denied (without smiling) a rumor that Khrushchev might visit his own Swedish Soviet general in jail to give him a medal.

Most of Sweden's newspapers helped to create an atmosphere of hostility towards Khrushchev by their headlines.

They recalled the Swedish diplomat Raoul Wallenberg, who saved thousands of Hungarian Jews from the Nazis, and whom the Russians arrested in Budapest in 1945. He disappeared after his arrest, and nothing was heard of him since then.

The Swedish press also demanded that Khrushchev should be asked about the Swedish merchant seamen who disappeared without a trace in Russia.

Several anti-Communist organizations of Ukrainian, Hungarian and Baltic political refugees in Sweden actively opposed Khrushchev's visit.

All accredited newsmen received by mail at the official press centre an invitation to "The Press Center of the June Committee of Refugees from the East Bloc," with lectures like "Khrushchev's role in the subjugation of the Caucasian peoples" and his extermination policy in the Caucasus today.

When Khrushchev arrived in Stockholm, some students tried to hold up a banner "Go home, red butcher!" They were quickly chased away by police, and their banner was confiscated. During Khrushchev's talk with Erlander, a red-painted pig with a picture of Khrushchev was released in a street near the government building, and caught by the police.

In Denmark, Khrushchev was driven in an ordinary limousine, but in Sweden he had to sit in a bomb-proof, bullet-proof car with an ugly armor-plated roof. The thousands of uniformed policemen guarding him each carried a gun, a club, and a long sword.

Ordinary people could not get anywhere near Khrushchev except when he was driven past them in his armored limousine at 100 miles an hour—so completely surrounded by motor cycle policemen that it was difficult to see him even for half a second.

All these security measures far surpassed anything I had seen on eight previous Khrushchev visits to western countries, including the U.S. They even surpassed security measures during General de Gaulle's state visit to West Germany in 1962, at a time when de Gaulle was in constant and immediate danger of assassination.

As one of the world's greatest showmen, Khrushchev knows his only advantage from any visit abroad is his tremendous ability to "get through" to ordinary people. But the Swedish government did everything it could to deny him that—and to ensure that his image to the Swedish public was unpleasant.

A famous soap powder's advertisements show the housewife who wrongly believed her laundry to be white—until she saw that the laundry of a neighbor using this soap powder was even whiter.

Those of us newsmen who had much previous experience of Khrushchev tours believed that this trip to Denmark had been his least pleasant visit to any western country—until we saw his reception in Sweden.

This entire Scandinavian tour is turning into Khrushchev's worst fiasco since he and his bizarre court first became an international road show.

The navy termed the bathyscaphe's mission "oceanographic research," omitting any reference to the Thresher in its announcements of the coming dives.

Pre-Marital Physical Wise —And So Are Questions

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I plan to marry in a few months and would like some questions answered.

Do you recommend a pre-marital physical? Should the couple go to the same doctor at the same time?

How soon before the wedding should this take place?

What is your opinion of the birth control pills and are they safe? How soon before the marriage should the pills be taken, or should they be started at that time?—MISS M.S.

Veneral disease isn't the only thing that can be devastating to a marriage. Tuberculosis, diabetes, nervous and mental disorders can ruin a marriage or a life. Examination will detect many of these.

DESIRABLE

After all, it doesn't require much more time for a doctor to make suitable inquiries about general health, check the chest and take a urine sample (for a diabetes test) than it does just to take a blood sample for the syphilis test. In addition, a chest X-ray is highly desirable.

An engaged couple may go to the same or to a different doctor, or at separate times.

It is my hope that you both will have doctors who are ready to answer questions, particularly sexual ones, which may be bothering either a man or woman. (True, some young people pretend to know all the answers already, and perhaps they do, but for many an inquiry or two may remove some needless worry.)

And, while I express hopes that the doctor will leave the door open for questions, it is up to the PATIENT to ask them. The examination should be about a month before the marriage, but can be a bit later.

SATISFACTION

Birth control pills are proving to be very satisfactory. Occasionally a woman will have unpleasant side effects, in which case the pills should be discontinued, but this is not common. They are, however, safe when used with this in mind.

For special instruction, that is best left to the doctor, but they should be started no later than five days after the period preceding the marriage.

All people about to be married should have examinations. A lot of trouble can be avoided as a result.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend told me that if a male gets mumps after the age of 15, he can't be a father. Do mumps have this effect?—E.B.

Your friend overestimated the harm. Mumps, especially in an adult, MAY impair or destroy fertility if both testes are affected. That's a far cry from saying that it WILL happen. Mumps may affect only one testicle—in this case the male is still fertile.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have poor circulation in my right foot. Is this "vascular disease"?—MRS. M.B.

Yes. Vascular disease is another way of saying there is impairment of blood vessels and circulation.

Is it that BACK again?

If it's backache that's bothering you, due to urinary irritation and bladder discomfort, then DODD'S Kidney Pills can help bring you relief. Dodd's Pills stimulate the kidneys to help relieve the condition causing the backache. Then you feel better and you feel better. You can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills. 50

Talks Continue Today On Mac-Powell Strike

VANCOUVER—Further talks will be held today by six union and management officials trying to settle the Alberni Valley office strike, six weeks old yesterday.

Labor Relations Board vice-chairman G. A. Little, who has attended these newest direct talks since they began Friday, said it was "a little too early" to say if there is any basis for settlement.

Pollution in Harbor Blamed

Oyster, Shellfish Ban Coming in Esquimalt

By BRUCE LOWTHER

Growing of oysters and other shellfish in Esquimalt harbor will be banned effective July 22, the provincial health department announced yesterday.

The closure, made public by David McMillan, 3641 Holland, confirms speculation that a recent ban in the Ladysmith area might be extended to other areas because of pollution from raw sewage.

The ban in Ladysmith has restricted sales from five beds covering 40 to 50 acres near a sewer outfall in the harbor.

A report yesterday said island oyster shipments are continuing despite the Ladysmith trouble, but B.C. production in May fell 40 per cent, to 12,595 gallons, from the previous month.

To save the island industry, Mr. McMillan said, there should be strict municipal enforcement of sewage disposal regulations.

Falling this, he said, the provincial government should encourage, through finance and research, discovery of methods to decontaminate oysters.

Mr. McMillan said most European countries employ a treatment using a chlorine solution which makes the oysters fit for human consumption.

He said B.C. declines to adopt such treatment systems but has adopted a rigid interpretation of the strict U.S. regulations.

Since oysters from Esquimalt meet the high U.S. specifications, he said, "I can't understand the provincial closure order."

His operation employs about 50 Indians.

Two Accidents

First Aid Winners 'Practise' on Road

PORT ALBERNI — The local naval fire department team from Esquimalt, also passing the crash scene, worked for 45 minutes to free a woman and two men, all Port Moody residents, who were taken to hospital in Hope.

The team took care of the injured in two accidents, one of them involving the team's car.

After placing third in Kamloops, the Albernians were travelling through the Fraser Canyon when they came on a car turned on its side.

Old Hospital City Affair?

NANAIMO — The city may be saddled with the old Nanaimo hospital after all.

City council last night approved a finance committee recommendation refusing a request from the board of the new hospital for a grant equal to 1964 taxes on the old building.

If the taxes of $5,000 are not paid for three years, the hospital will go to the city for disposal to meet the $15,000 due.

Annual Picnic

St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will stage its annual picnic on Wednesday at the Saanich Experimental Farm. Those requiring transportation should meet at Holyrood House at 11 a.m.

Honors Dead

BROOKWOOD, England (CP) — The annual memorial service for the Canadian dead of both world wars was held Sunday at Brookwood Military Cemetery.

Attending the 30-minute service for the first time was Lionel Chevrier, Canada's new high commissioner in London, and Mrs. Chevrier.

Traffic Light

A letter from RCMP suggested the traffic light at Cornox and Terminal be extended to about 2 a.m. from midnight.

A coroner's jury investigating a traffic death there at 12 minutes after midnight April 24 urged a 24-hour light but the RCMP said "there is no danger if both pedestrians and operators of vehicles use caution."

Uchuck Subsidy Sore Issue

'Pingpong Ball' in B.C. Ottawa Game

By IAN STREET

Capt. Eason Young of Campbell River feels he has become a "pingpong ball" in the political game being played by British Columbia and Ottawa.

He and partner George McCandless operate the Mv Uchuck III on a year-round ferry service from Zeballos serving Tahsis, Esquimalt, Gold River and nearly a dozen logging camps on the west coast.

The service now has a federal subsidy of $1,000 a month, and has had a requested $1,000 increase turned down by both Ottawa and Victoria.

Mr. Young says he would like to tell both the provincial and federal governments "to go to heck."

"I don't like having to go to anyone with hat in hand," the 53-year-old skipper said.

"I don't like subsidies and I don't like to use as a club over the government's head any threats that we're going to have to get out of this service. "We will keep operating," Mr. Young said. "We'll make it, even without the added subsidy, but that way it's going to take measurably longer."

The partners, who founded Barkley Sound Transportation Co. after they got out of the navy in 1946, operated from Port Alberni to Tofino and Uchuck for 14 years until the opening of a while pioneering a new operation for the west coast road forced them to move.

Before the move north to Zeballos business declined and Mr. Young said this meant "bringing old debts with us."

In the past four years the run out of Zeballos has become firmly established in an area which is showing signs of development that herald a new boom for the west coast, mainly from lumber but also from mining activity.

Mr. Young and Mr. McCandless frequently work a 20-hour day, seven days a week, when they are on duty.

The federal maritime commission has indicated it won't increase the present $1,000-a-month subsidy.

Mr. Young and Mr. McCandless frequently work a 20-hour day, seven days a week, when they are on duty.

Freight business to mining operations and logging camps is booming because operators have discovered that by using the Uchuck and Vancouver Island Coach Lines freight service from Gold River, equipment can be repaired "outside" and be back in operation within a few days.

A special tourist run each Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday connecting with Vancouver Island Coach Lines passenger service at Gold River and running down scenic Muchalat Inlet, across Nootka Sound to Friendly Cove and back, is also proving popular.

There has been an average 15 per cent annual increase in this business. It was started in 1960 and this year, with new conducted tours introduced by Coach Lines, it is hoped to carry more than 1,000 passengers. Last year the total was 800.

"It's not going to be a case of perpetual help," he said. "When we took over the service out of Alberni we were told that it would last 10 good years. We were lucky, it went just over 11. Up here I get no feeling that someday we'll be replaced by road transportation."

On Coast to Stay

Highways Minister Gagliardi has fired off more than one teletype message to Ottawa. John Squire, NDP member for Alberni, has appealed to the provincial government to grant a subsidy as a means of speeding development already taking place in the area.

Caught in the middle of the government hassle, Mr. Young said he only needs the additional help until the ferry operation is on a sound financial footing.

"It's not going to be a case of perpetual help," he said.

"When we took over the service out of Alberni we were told that it would last 10 good years. We were lucky, it went just over 11. Up here I get no feeling that someday we'll be replaced by road transportation."

"We're here to stay."

Man's Plea Reserved On Wounding Charge

ALBERNI — Robert Louis Kapchinsky, 22, was remanded without plea when he appeared Monday before Magistrate W. E. MacLeod charged with causing bodily harm by criminal negligence, with a pistol.

The charge arose out of an incident at Sproat Lake early Friday when William Olebar, 22, received three bullet wounds in the groin and one in the arm. He is reported in good condition in West Coast General Hospital.

Kapchinsky, charged also with possession of an unregistered firearm at a place other than

Assembly Wharf

Dredging Begins Today

NANAIMO — Dredging operations will begin this morning in preparation for the third berth at the assembly wharf.

Marine Pipeliner No. 114, a suction dredge from New Westminster, arrived in Nanaimo harbor Sunday and fixed a dredge pipeline Monday. Actual construction is expected to begin in about six weeks but tenders have not yet been called.

The dredging contract was awarded to the New Westminster firm for $462,000.

For the first time this year, a ship is loading lumber while lying at anchor in the harbor. The Artemedix, an Italian ship, is loading its cargo from a scow while waiting to get a berth at the assembly dock.

Harbormaster John Dunham said this method of loading is unusual but has been used on previous occasions here. The Artemedix was here last week before going to Ocean Falls for a load of forest products. Her cargo is destined for Australia.

Honors Dead

BROOKWOOD, England (CP) — The annual memorial service for the Canadian dead of both world wars was held Sunday at Brookwood Military Cemetery.

Attending the 30-minute service for the first time was Lionel Chevrier, Canada's new high commissioner in London, and Mrs. Chevrier.

Loggers, children, horses and burs will compete and several parades will be held at various Island centres celebrate Canada's 97th birthday with Dominion Day programs Wednesday.

In the Alberni area, mill sports have been added to the loggers' events during the second annual Elks celebrations in Sproat Lake Park starting at 10 a.m.

The program includes log burling, chopping, sawing, jousting, axe-throwing, shingle-packing, lumber-grading, eye-splicing, women's nail-driving and log jousting, and a display by a Martin Mars water bomber.

Entrants will come from Courtenay, Lake Cowichan, Campbell River and as far afield as Snohomish, Wash., and will include 1963 winner Allan Woodrow.

Grand exalted ruler Percy Chisholm will open the program and Tom McGarrigle is the chief and organizer.

There will also be a midway and a free family dance in the community centre.

Courtenay Program

It's a three-part program in Courtenay, starting with a horse show in Centennial Park at 10 a.m. and continuing with a car gymnastics in Courtenay Square at noon.

The last item isn't a competition but may attract the largest crowd. B.C. Lions are due in Lewis Park at 5 p.m. to begin their 10-day training camp.

In Duncan, the Cowichan District Riding Club will begin its annual Dominion Day horse show on the exhibition grounds at 10:30 a.m.

This is also Toffin's big day

Medical Officer

New senior medical officer at RCAF station Comox is Sqdn. Ldr. Colin Hardie, 21, of Motherwell, Scotland, who joined RCAF in London, England, in 1959. He succeeds Sqdn. Ldr. James Garrity, who is taking postgraduate studies in general surgery in Toronto military hospital.

Summer School Soon

NANAIMO — Registrations close today for summer school sessions which begin in Nanaimo Senior Secondary School July 6 and run from 9 a.m. to noon every weekday until July 31.

L. F. Sparring, Senior Secondary chemistry teacher, is in charge of the summer classes. Students may take one course only during the summer.

APPLY BY THURSDAY

Some latecomers may get their applications in by Thursday. A staff of four teachers has been hired but more may be employed if enough people indicate they will attend the summer classes.

Last year, 108 students attended. The courses are offered by the school board for remedial purposes and for borderline students, and there are no courses taught which require government examinations.

Smile Show Sailing

WHOLESALE
TO THE PUBLIC SALE
NO MONEY DOWN

By BERT BENNY
The 12th in line of Jerry Goeley's steady succession of Smile Shows cast off, cleared the harbor and faced the open sea of public assessment last night.

It is a brave and handsome ship, propelled by the twin screws of humor and grace which will undoubtedly generate power enough to carry it through some pretty stormy waters. Right now, the engines need a bit of "running in" but it will not be long before they provide an exhilarating and spanking rate of knots throughout the summer's voyage.

Captain of the Smile Show is, of course, the inimitable Mr. Goeley and he is as impressive as ever in his various "frightfully English" guises. But he has signed on a very handy crew. Most expert, lively and facile, for instance, is Sylvia Mobey who handles all manner of different but important jobs with shining success. Ron Korhonen is still an adept and impressive accordionist and veteran Irene Henderson sings and acts very delightfully—even though her choice of some is not always completely happy.

Comedienne Bettie Ellis is always lots of fun; she has smart material and uses it to great advantage.

Last night the Smile Show had a shakedown cruise, and while some kinks remain to be smoothed out, the performance, enjoyed by a large audience, certainly warrants a prediction of success.

The 1964 Smile Show continues nightly at 8:30 at the Oak Bay Auditorium through August 22.

Girls Buying Half-Suits In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver girls are buying topless swimsuits.

Stores have received orders for 73 swimsuits at $35 each, and one leading women's shop has two samples showing in a display window.

The display suits were flown from Europe and have been previewed for local photographers.

Judiciously placed black patches on the straps of the topless suits seemed to solve—temporarily at least—the problem of overexposure.

Festival Record Indicated

VANCOUVER (CP)—Organizers promise a record audience Wednesday for the extravagant opening night of the 1964 Vancouver International Festival.

Few seats were left Monday as workers outside the 2,800-seat Queen Elizabeth Theatre put the finishing touches to a 120-foot model of the Eiffel Tower. It emphasizes the French theme of the 7th annual festival.

The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, augmented to 100 members, performs Wednesday under French conductor Charles Munch, along with the Harvard Glee Club and Radcliffe Choral Society, who will sing Poulenc's La Gloria.

The first-night audience will dine after the show on a massive buffet of hams, turkeys, B.C. salmon and huge legs of beef.

Thursday night the stars of the Paris Opera Ballet open and next Sunday Marilyn Tyler sings Marguerite in a production of Berlioz' concert opera The Damnation of Faust.

The offer allowed patrons to pick up a seat ticket on the way in and pay what they thought the play was worth on the way out.

Beatles Withdraw Challenge

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—The Beatles Monday withdrew a challenge to "meet" youths who pelted the pop group with rotten eggs and tomatoes Sunday night.

"We'll just ignore it," they said. "We'll just ignore it." They said they were willing to forget the incident and added they might make some public appearances after all.

The Beatles, who flew here Sunday night from New Zealand, had challenged the youths who bombarded them at the airport to "meet" them outside their hotel.

"If we do, we will just have thousands of eggs thrown at them," they said. "We'll just ignore it." They said they were willing to forget the incident and added they might make some public appearances after all.

Mungo Martin Native Spirit Lives On

By IAN ARBOL

The greatest memorial to Mungo Martin is seen by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes to be an inspiration for the revival of native carving and painting by the young Indians of today.

This declaration was made by Mr. Pearkes at the opening yesterday of the graphic art of Chief Mungo Martin at Thunderbird House, third floor, Hudson's Bay Company.

BROUGHT BACK

"After the native arts had almost dropped out of existence, Mungo Martin brought back the natives' basic heritage," he said.

The lieutenant-governor spoke of a recent visit to the Indian Residential School at Alberni where he was pleased to see native paintings and carvings, the work of the teen-agers there, resembling the school.

Mr. Pearkes sees an awakening interest in the province among the white people and the Indians.

On exhibit with Mungo Martin's work is a panel, a preliminary study in bronze plaster, depicting Chief Mungo Martin in his two principal attributes, that of the totem carver and that of Kwakiutl chief.

The design is by Bill Reid of Vancouver, a friend of and co-worker with Chief Martin for years.

IT ACCEPTED

On behalf of a committee of Victoria citizens who commissioned the work, Colin Graham, director of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, has announced "preliminary acceptance" of Reid's submission.

In its final stage the Martin memorial will be approximately seven feet high and of copper. It will be an outdoor exhibit, probably in Thunderbird Park.

Funds for the panel are being raised by public subscription as a tribute to the chief from the people of British Columbia. The aim of the drive is for $5,500.

VANCOUVER SHOWING

The exhibit of Mungo Martin's work will remain in Victoria at the Bay until July 11, after which it will be shown in the Vancouver store from July 17 to July 25.

The permanent display will be in the provincial museum. "It will be a memorial type of exhibit," announced director Dr. G. C. Carl.

Also at the ceremonies yesterday afternoon, Stuart Keate, Vancouver Sun publisher, presented Chief Martin's adopted daughter, Mrs. Helen Hunt, with the Canada Council Medal.

POSTHUMOUS AWARD

This was awarded posthumously last year, the first such award made to a Canadian Indian and one of the first dozen made to any Canadian.

The most physically dominant memorial to the Kwakiutl chief is "the tallest totem pole in the world," 127-feet high, in Beacon Hill Park.

Flag Debate to End

OTTAWA (UPI)—The federal government and opposition parties appear to have broken an angry impasse that had threatened to block crucial legislation and prevent any summer recess.

Informed sources said the government House leader, Guy Favreau, proposed a compromise that would have the national flag debate resumed only until the end of this week.

The House yesterday passed an interim money supply bill that had been debated for more than five days, and went on to consider legislation to unify the three commands in the national defence department.

Favreau was to announce later whether the flag debate is to resume or be postponed until an agenda is agreed upon later today.

In either event, the flag resolution was expected to be debated only until the end of this week.

Russians Desert China?

MOSCOW (UPI)—A high Soviet official has hinted that the Kremlin might withhold military support from Communist China on the grounds Peking has departed from Communist principles of peaceful co-existence.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, who also is the Soviet Union's chief disarmament negotiator, suggested in an article in the government newspaper Izvestia that Russia's rocket-nuclear shield might be denied to Peking.

This came in the wake of a warning from the United States to the Chinese that they risked war in connection with the troubled situation in South Viet Nam and Laos.

Pastor Charged

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Rev. Russell D. Hornburg, a United Church minister who once ran a teen-age night club at his church here, was arraigned Monday on eight charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Gordon on Separation:

'Study Couldn't Prove Favorable'

LONDON (CP)—Finance Minister Walter Gordon said flatly Monday night that no study of the Canadian situation could prove favorable to Quebec separation.

"It's like talking about splitting London away from the rest of Britain," Gordon told a press conference.

The visiting Canadian minister had been asked what would be the effect if an economic-social-political study announced by Prime Minister Pearson last week proved favorable to separation.

"It couldn't prove favorable," he replied, adding the government would favor anything that would improve Canada's federal system.

Many things are happening in Quebec, resulting in some extreme statements by radicals, but separation "is not one of the things that will happen or even, except in theory, could happen."

The question on separation came at the end of the press conference in which Gordon also said a Canadian government investigation has shown there is some basis for British complaints about Canadian import regulations.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson Monday promised to make a new statement in the Commons today on a federal "economic investigation of the inter-relationship between Quebec and the rest of the country."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Long distance swimmer Britt Sullivan, bothered by a school of sharks on the first leg of an attempted trans-Atlantic swim, vanished Sunday night and a day-long search Monday by the Coast Guard failed to turn up any trace of her.

Two helicopters and an 82-foot cutter criss-crossed the waters off Fire Island, a popular summer resort strip off the coast of Long Island where the 28-year-old former navy WAVE was last seen.

ONE MORE TRY

They were recalled as night fell and a coast guard spokesman said "one more try" at finding the woman would be made today.

Captain Laurence Griffith, in command of a 35-foot boat escorting the swimmer, notified the Coast Guard that Miss Sullivan had to be pulled from the water Sunday night when a large school of sharks came within 30 yards of her. Later, she continued the swim.

RE-ENTERED WATER

Griffith said Miss Sullivan re-entered the water on a swim toward Montauk Point on the eastern tip of Long Island. There, she was to have turned and headed out across the Atlantic toward Europe.

Then, Griffith said, she disappeared. He explained his vessel, the Marine Center, had moved about a quarter of a mile ahead of the swimmer and waited for her. He said this was standard procedure.

Manila Hit By Typhoon

MANILA (AP)—Typhoon Winnie slammed through Manila early Monday, cutting a wide path of destruction and paralyzing this Philippines city of 2,600,000 population.

The tropical blow with winds up to 80 miles an hour blacked out most of the city with power failures.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

UN Troops Leave Today Chaos Feared in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Western diplomats expressed fear the Congo would be plunged into chaos after United Nations peacekeeping forces withdraw today. Already the nation was torn by Communist-backed revolt and tribal rivalries.

Ironically, the man of the hour appeared to be Moïse Tshombe, whose Katanga secessionist regime was crushed by UN military force 18 months ago. Observers agreed Tshombe had emerged as the main hope for reconciliation of the feuding factions in the blood-soaked Congo.

The Congo has been torn by strife almost since the moment it was granted independence on June 30, 1961, by Belgium.

Tshombe, who returned in triumph Friday from 18 months of self-imposed exile, was considered likely to be the Congo's next premier. The mandate of Premier Cyrille Adoula, appointed by parliament Aug. 2, 1962, ends today along with that of the UN force.

Successor? Khrushchev Doesn't Care

OSLO (CP)—A jovial, gesticulating Nikita Khrushchev told his Norwegian hosts Monday night he did not care who would succeed him as premier of the Soviet Union. (See below).

According to a Norwegian spokesman who was present during a meeting between the Russian leader, Norwegian parliamentary leaders and Premier Einar Gerhardsen, Khrushchev was quoted as saying:

"We have now established the necessary apparatus of party leadership to take care of the question of succession."

Khrushchev made the statement during a government banquet.

Castro's Sister Cuts Ties

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Juana Castro Ruz, sister of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, said Monday she has broken with him and is seeking political asylum in Mexico. Miss Castro, who arrived here five days ago from Havana, called her brother "a Communist dictator."

"I have broken all bonds with Fidel and Raul," Miss Castro told a news conference here. Raul Castro is Castro's brother and Cuban minister of armed forces.

"I can no longer remain indifferent to what is happening in my country since the middle part of 1960 when my brothers began to deliver it to Russian imperialism," she added.

Miss Castro said she has been able to verify personally that there are "at least 70,000 political prisoners in Cuban jails who are victims of cruel treatment."

RISK PERSECUTION

"The practice of Roman Catholicism has not been banned, but those who go to church risk being persecuted," she said.

"On one occasion I saw a young fellow shot to death in a church. It was never determined who killed him."

Miss Castro charged that "Cuba was now entirely under Communist control," and added:

"Communists train the guerrillas that are sent to Latin America to spread subversion . . ."

"Fidel promised to hold free elections within 18 months after he assumed power, but in no time he convinced the people that they should do without elections and he become a dictator."

Jet Crashes Children Die

HAVERHILL, Mass. (UPI)—A jet fighter plane crashed early today on a heavily populated street and apparently killed at least two children as they slept in their homes.

There were no immediate signs of survivors among the crew.

Leaders Agree On Strike Pact

Lagos (Reuters)—Representatives of the Nigerian government, labor leaders and private employers reached full agreement Monday night on settling the Nigeria-wide strike that paralyzed the country for 13 days earlier this month.

Greetings in Norway:

Go Home, You Fat

Khrushchev Thought Danish Lips Were White Until He Saw the Knuckles in Sweden

By EDWIN BOTH
from Oslo

"Go home, you fat . . ."

With this abusive scream, cut off by a policeman's gloved hand, a Norwegian woman greeted Soviet Premier Khrushchev on his first day of a five-day state visit to her country.

There were some cheers, too, but a definite undercurrent of hostility as the Red leader arrived from Sweden to continue trade talks with Scandinavian officials.

Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen, speaking at a state banquet, bluntly challenged Khrushchev to increase free cultural and economic exchanges across borders and ideological divisions.

His reception has been less than enthusiastic throughout his 18-day tour. The grimmest part has been in Sweden.

In shiny white steel helmets and grey uniforms, many tough military policemen stood with their black army boots on the carpets inside Stockholm's royal palace—turning their backs on King Gustaf Adolf and his guest.

Never before had Swedish soldiers stood with their backs to their king, and they did so only because his guest was Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev.

They had to stand with their faces towards us newsmen to ensure (although our special police card with photographs, and our green "Supplementary Accreditation Card Number 3" giving admission to the palace had been checked five times before we got there) that none of us would attempt to kill Khrushchev or to kidnap him from the palace.

Stories of a highly melodramatic kidnapping plot by fanatical Hungarians and/or Ukrainians and/or Baltic refugees filled the Swedish press, so that even five times
